POLICE JUDGES' PAY HELD UP TILL THEY PAY TAXES

City Has Judgments for $28.77 Against Rosecan, Beck Being Sued by Collector for $61.15.

EACH ALSO ON THE DELINQUENT LIST

Rosecan Says He Recently Paid Judgments and Will Settle Delinquent Bills at Once.

The salaries of both the Judges of the City Police Courts, Harry P. Rosecan and Clyde C. Beck, will be held up by the City Treasurer, under orders issued today by Comptroller Nite, until they settle tax bills in which they are now delinquent.

The taxes due from Judge Rosecan, with interest and costs, are $15.44, of which the City Collector has obtained judgments for $28.77. The amount due from Judge Beck is $116.44, and suits of the collector for $61.15 of this amount are now pending.

Authority for the Action. The Comptroller, in directing the Treasurer to defer payment of the salaries of the two Police Judges, acted on the provisions of section 131 of the revised code of the city ordinances. This section states: "The Comptroller shall not draw a warrant on the Treasurer in favor of any officer who is known to the Comptroller to be indebted to the city, except for the balance which may appear to be due to such person over and above the debt due the city, in favor of any officer who is known to the Comptroller to be indebted to the city, except for the balance which may appear to be due to such person over and above the debt due the city."

The city tax records, on which the Comptroller based his action, show that Judge Rosecan left unpaid his personal property taxes of $145 in 1918 and $5.92 in 1917, and that judgments were obtained by the collector with a levy of $15.44 costs and 63 cents attorney fee. Rosecan's personal property taxes for 1921-24, all in arrears, are for the successive years, $7, $5.31, $11.70 and $16.63.

Records as to Judge Beck. The records show that Judge Beck is being sued for $21.25 per cent personal property taxes for 1921, $12.26, and 1922, $29.87, and that he is in arrears for 1923, $29.26, and 1924, $14.42.

Both Rosecan and Beck made no personal property return in any of the years named, but left the return to be estimated by the Assessor, and the taxes due are on assessments thus made by the Assessor's office.

Judge Rosecan said, when asked about the matter by a Post-Dispatch reporter, that the judgments were paid "recently—that is, prior to the publication of this matter, and that the taxes due for the four years had been overlooked, and would now be paid at once. He said that in 1916 and 1917 he was a law student, supporting a family. "Thousands of people in similar circumstances," he remarked, "postpone the payment of taxes until a more favorable time."

Judge Beck said he had no comment to make until he should receive an official notice from the Comptroller or the Treasurer. The salary of Police Judge is $1000 a year. In failing to make a return on taxable personal property, the Police Judges followed the custom of about one-third of the taxpayers of St. Louis. About one-third of the personal property assessments appear on the Assessor's books in red ink, denoting that the amount was estimated by the Assessor. One of the many who has failed to make returns on personal property in recent years, all appearing in red ink, were: For 1924, $4600; 1922, $2000; 1921, $4000; 1920, $1000; 1919, no record; 1918, $100.

In 1919 several wealthy St. Louis men were arrested on a misdemeanor charge, following their failure to make tax returns on personal property. The cases were thrown out of court, but the Assessor, Christian Eirikson, succeeded in placing a higher assessment on that of former Mayor Harrison than that of former Mayor Glavin, who had failed to make a return.

CORNED BEEF AND CABBAGE WINS IN NEW YORKERS' VOTE

Vegetable Dinner Second in Referendum; Ham and Eggs a Very Poor Last.

Special to the Post-Dispatch. NEW YORK, June 15.—Corned beef and cabbage wins. The final result of the referendum conducted by the United Restaurant Owners' Association at its members' eating places, which ended yesterday, showed New Yorkers prefer this dish to all the others of a big field. Vegetable dinner was second and veal cutlet, roast Long Island duck, and filet mignon finished in the order named.

Ham and eggs, a supposedly popular dish, finished a bad last. Where corned beef and cabbage received 26,063 votes out of a possible 180,000 ballots, giving it a plurality of 432, ham and eggs staggered along far in the rear, favored only by 903 diners. Roast beef led the second division, with 10,586 supporters.

WOMAN CHIEF OF BANDIT BAND SENTENCED TO DEATH

Soviet Indictments Charged Her With Murdering Communist Employees and Police.

By the Associated Press. KIEV, June 15.—Mme. Marusa Tretyko, wife of a Russian Colonel, has been sentenced to death for her activities as head of a notorious group of anti-Soviet bandits who murdered the Ukraine for more than two years.

Seven of her band were also condemned to be shot, and 13 others received long prison terms. The indictments against Mme. Tretyko said she personally led assaults against Soviet factories and other institutions, killing and robbing the communist employees and murdering agents of the Cheka, or political police. Her husband, who led another anti-Soviet band, allegedly in conjunction with the Ukrainian commander, Petura, and under orders from the Polish general staff, escaped into Poland some time ago.

Tests at Squantum, Mass., Clearly Heard at Naval Laboratory at Washington.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, June 15.—Tests with the 40-meter short-wave radio set from one of the Macmillan expedition navy planes at Squantum, Mass., yesterday was heard clearly for half an hour at the Naval Radio Research Laboratory here, a distance of about 500 miles from the sending points. The tests, which were last to be conducted before the three planes of the expedition were prepared for shipment to Elah, Greenland, were conducted from a plane 3000 feet in the air, using aerial wire. The distance compares with a range of 20 miles obtained in the first test at Philadelphia.

'BEAM BROADCASTING' SYSTEM MARCONI Predicts Success for New Device.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 15.—Experiments with a system of "beam broadcasting," which Marconi predicts will revolutionize the operation of commercial long distance radio are described by Guglielmo Marconi in the forthcoming July issue of Radio Broadcast. A combination of short electrical waves, with what is known as the beam system, utilizing only a fraction of the horsepower of high-power long wave stations, Marconi says, will minimize the cost of broadcasting and provide comparative secrecy in air messages.

MEXICO TOPIC OF DISCUSSION ON COOLIDGE CRUISE

Kellogg, Pershing, Lejeune and Arthur Brisbane President's Guests on Sunday Trip.

CALLES MAKES SHARP REPLY TO KELLOGG

Declares Mexico Will Permit No One to Interfere in Her Internal Affairs, Is Meeting Obligations.

By CHARLES MICHELSON. A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, June 15.—President Calles of Mexico has answered Secretary of State Kellogg's statement hinting at the withdrawal of recognition unless Mexico mends her ways relative to the protection of the lives and property of American citizens. There is no soft note in Senor Calles' communication, which was made public by the Mexican embassy.

"The statement," he says, "that the Government of the United States will continue to support the Government of Mexico only so long as it protects American interests and lives and complies with international engagements and obligations embodies a threat to the sovereignty of Mexico that she cannot overlook and rejects with all energy, because she does not accord to any foreign country the right to intervene in her domestic affairs, nor is she disposed to subordinate her international relations to the exigencies of another country."

Stating that it is necessary to rectify the statements made by Kellogg "as required by truth and justice," the Mexican President insists that Mexico is doing her full duty and adds that so long as the American-Mexican Commission does not adjust the cases submitted "it is irrelevant to charge Mexico with failure to protect American interests."

Conference on the Mayflower. Secretary Kellogg was with President Coolidge yesterday on the Mayflower. He may be expected to point out that, whereas the commission has been at work since before President Harding's death, no claim has been paid and no seized property has been returned. The conference on the Mayflower yesterday had a serious aspect. Among the President's guests were Gen. Pershing, who led the American forces into Mexico after the Columbus raid, and Major-General Lejeune, in command when the marines occupied Vera Cruz. The one conspicuous guest was Arthur Brisbane, who is now in Mexico.

Hearst was an interventionist during the Huerta regime but advocated the early recognition of Obregon, and what logically he supposed to be in the good graces of Calles, who was picked by Obregon as his successor. The theory is, however, that the agrarians have attained such headway in their land seizures that Calles may not be able to curb them.

The application of agrarian "justice" cannot, said Calles, "be a subject of complaint, because Mexico has issued them in the exercise of her sovereignty, and apart from that the State Department has accepted the form of indemnification prescribed by the Mexican laws." To this the obvious reply will be the form of indemnification is not very satisfactory if no indemnity is paid.

Among the tidings brought by Ambassador Sheffield is that 500 letters written by him relative to have many instances of opposition have produced no effect. References to Sheffield. It has been assumed that Ambassador Sheffield soon would return to Mexico, but Senor Calles' references to the American Ambassador are not kindly. Referring to Kellogg's inclusion of foreign interests protected by him, the Mexican President calls attention to the fact that said Ambassador does not represent any other foreigner, but his fellow citizens, and Mexico could not admit that without previous authorization the American Ambassador should act in behalf of persons or interests alien to those of his country.

Since Mexico ordered out the man left in charge of the British Embassy Great Britain's interests have been in the hands of the American Ambassador, which makes this part of Calles' communication rather puzzling.

DETECTIVES USE INK TO BAIT TRAP FOR SNEAK THIEF

Tubes of Printers' Black Put Into Trousers—Negro With Stained Hands Held.

"It will take a lot of finesse to catch the thief," Detectives Taylor and Schneider of the Mounted District were told Friday when they reported at the plant of the McCuskey-Norris Manufacturing Co., 2329 Cooper street, ready to arrest the man who had been looting employees' lockers of small amounts for seven weeks.

"If finesse is all it takes we'll get him," Detective Taylor told his partner, and they went to work on a plan. On Saturday morning the detectives asked the factory management for a tube of the printers' ink used in marking button rings, the plant's product. They cut the tube in half and put a half in each pocket of the trousers of Seth Egan, an employee, which were hanging in a locker. In the pockets they also put a quarter, a penny, and a dime.

Then they went to the washroom and waited. An hour later William E. Nicholas, the negro porter, of 716 North Compton avenue, came into the wash room to wash the status of printers' ink from his hands. He was arrested. In his pockets the detectives found a penny, a quarter and a dime bearing the dates of the coins they had put in Egan's pocket. Nicholas made no statement. A warrant will be asked for today.

WIFE INSISTED ON 'BEING BOSS,' SO HE KILLED HER

Los Angeles Dentist's Confession Followed by an Inquiry to Establish the Motive.

ESTATE OF STEPSON UNDER INVESTIGATION

Youth, Who Unwittingly Aided in Sealing Tomb of Mother, Said to Have Made Will Recently.

By the Associated Press. LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 15.—Convinced they have completed a chain of evidence to prove that Dr. Thomas Young, Los Angeles dentist, killed his wife, Grace Grogan Young, widow of Patrick Grogan, known during his lifetime as the "Olive King," independent of Young's confession, representatives of the District Attorney's office concerned themselves today with establishing a motive.

The first object of their search was a will which they had been informed Charles Patrick Grogan, 18-year-old son of the slain woman, had made in favor of Young within the last fortnight at the request of Young, Young Grogan, who was the principal heir to his father's estate, had continued to live with his stepfather after the mother's disappearance, up to the moment he learned Young had confessed to killing his mother and contriving to have the son unwittingly aid in sealing the body up in a casket.

Young has insisted he killed his wife because of resentment over the fact that she insisted from the day of their marriage on "being a boss" in their home, and that she had slapped him in the face during a quarrel in a cafe.

Link in Evidence Found.

What investigators regarded as the link in the chain of evidence connecting Young with the killing was the finding yesterday near the scene of the slaying of a rubber cone which Young said as used in administering the anesthetic.

The possibility that Young had an accomplice to aid him in concealing the killing and supporting his story that Mrs. Young, who voluntarily disappeared after a quarrel the night of Feb. 21 last, also was under consideration by the investigators. According to relatives of Mrs. Young, the son continued to receive letters which he believed to be from his mother up to within the last few weeks.

These letters were from New York, the relatives said. The officers are trying to learn who mailed them in the East.

A statement from the District Attorney's office said that the dentist who killed his wife with liquid gas at their Beverly Hills home, near here, last February, and threw her body in a casket beneath the cabin which he sealed with concrete, was standing by the assistance of Patrick Grogan.

Dr. Young was taken to the undertaking rooms where his wife's body will be buried.

Taken to View the Body.

"You know her, don't you?" he was asked by a detective.

"Yes, sir," he replied as he collapsed in the arms of the detective, the first sign of emotion he had shown since the killing.

He had looked dazedly at the officers, who had taken him to the casket, and he had looked dazedly at the officers, who had taken him to the casket, and he had looked dazedly at the officers, who had taken him to the casket.

"I am glad she is dead," he remarked when he had regained his composure. "I am glad she is dead, because I am free."

Then he began talking, recalling every detail.

"We left my house and went to a cafe," he said, "and I gave her a bottle of liquid gas. I put some liquid gas in my pocket and we went to the cafe. On the way out she went to sleep."

"When she went to sleep, I gave her a bottle of liquid gas. I put some liquid gas in my pocket and we went to the cafe. On the way out she went to sleep."

"Then I got a wheelbarrow, loaded her in it and wheeled her into the cellar, after I put cotton in her nose."

On the Miss Mised the Concrete. The ex-dentist, the confession says, Dr. Young took Young Grogan to the cottage and at night time the boy unknowingly saw the concrete to cover the body of his mother.

At the conclusion of the examination Young went to the station home, where he offered to assist the investigators in making any evidence they might want.

Mrs. Young disappeared suddenly. Continued on Page 2, Column 3.

700 YUNNANESE PUT TO DEATH BY VICTORIOUS ARMY

Caught by Mobs, Many Were Beaten and Thrown Into Harbor and Held Down Until Drowned.

OFFICER CRUCIFIED TO TELEPHONE POLE

Dispatch Says Atrocities Were Committed by the Natives of Canton—U. S. Sailors Halt Killings.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 15.—A dispatch to the Evening Post from Hongkong today said that more than 700 Yunnanese were slaughtered at Canton by the victorious Cantonese army, which captured that city Saturday.

The Yunnanese were caught by mobs, beaten into insensibility, thrown into the harbor and held down by bamboo poles until they were drowned, the dispatch said. One Yunnanese officer was crucified to a telephone pole while the mob jeered and scorned him. The dispatch added that just outside the French concession Yunnanese were driven from a hiding place, beaten and thrown into a creek in the sight of many foreigners who dared not interfere in Chinese territory. The dispatch said all the atrocities were committed by people of Canton and not by the soldiers who drove the Yunnanese from the city.

The wholesale slaughter finally was halted by the intervention of American and British sailors. It was said that Lieut. Faure, commander of the British gunboat Hobbs, stood with the mob in the narrow language and finally persuaded its members to deliver their captives to Chinese police. Hundreds of Yunnanese were said to be still hiding in Canton, many starved and afraid to disclose their identity.

Electric Wires Protect Foreign Troops in Hankow.

By the Associated Press. HANKOW, June 15.—Another of the Chinese rioters who participated on the attack of the British concession here Saturday has died of his wounds bringing the death toll to nine. The situation is quiet, but defense troops are standing by.

Gen. Liu Chu-Lung, whose Hupeh soldiers have arrived to reinforce the concession guard has issued handwritten proclamations assuring that, pending the central Government's investigation of the Shanghai affair, quiet must be maintained. If the anti-foreign disturbances continue, he adds, the result will be a repetition of the Boxer trouble and foreign troops will be landed.

Chinese Employes Strike.

The Chinese employes in the Japanese concessions have "one on strike," demanding the removal of the electrified tanglements which they say killed a Chinese woman and a boy. The story of the killing of these two persons has not been verified. It is claimed, however, that the current in the electrification is not of sufficient power to cause death.

The body of a student, bayoneted by a soldier because he was accused of inciting to riot, was transported to Wu-Chang and exhibited in the streets as an example of the brutality of foreigners.

Lennox, who was a former soldier at the post, had taken a load of passengers to the place and was accompanied by Koehler after his return. While being driven at a high speed, his machine ran off the concrete onto a dirt extension of the roadway, which is several inches lower than the concrete, and when he attempted to steer it back the concrete shoulder caused it to overturn.

Text of President Calles' Reply to Secretary Kellogg

WASHINGTON, June 15.—(Associated Press.) The text of the reply of President Calles of Mexico to the recent pronouncement of Secretary of State Kellogg on relations with Mexico:

"Declarations of the State Department have been published in which Mr. Kellogg, answering some questions relating to the visit of Ambassador Sheffield to said department, affirms that some properties of American citizens have been illegally taken in Mexico for which no compensation has been made, and in one instance taken by the Mexican Government on account of unfavourable demands of labor."

"At the same time he refers to the Joint Claims Commissions, stating that he is convinced that the Mexican Government wishes to comply with the conditions of my country for the properties taken from American citizens; that he has seen the statements published in the press that another revolutionary movement may be intended in Mexico, and the Department of State very much hopes this is not true, the attitude of said department being to use its influence and lend its support in behalf of the stability and orderly constitutional procedure in Mexico; but it makes clear that the American Government will continue to support the Government in Mexico, only so long as it protects American lives and American rights and complies with its international obligations and obligations."

"The statement under reference affirms also that the American Ambassador has succeeded in protecting American as well as foreign interests and that he has thus succeeded, he has no right to charge Mexico with failure to protect said interests, and attention should be called to the fact that said Ambassador does not represent any other foreigner, but his own fellow citizens, the American Ambassador should act in behalf of persons or interests alien to those of his country."

"If the government of Mexico, as affirmed, is now on trial before the world, such is the case with the Government of the United States as well as all those of other countries; but if it is understood that Mexico is on trial in the guise of a defendant, my Government absolutely rejects with energy such imputation which in essence would only mean an insult."

"To conclude I declare that my Government, conscious of the obligations imposed by international law, is determined to comply with them, and, therefore, to extend protection to the lives and interests of foreigners; that it only accepts and hopes to receive the help and support of all the other countries based on a sincere and loyal co-operation and accord to the inviolable principle of international friendship; but in no way it shall admit that a Government of any nation may pretend to create a privilege for its nationals in the country nor shall it ever accept any foreign interference contrary to the rights of sovereignty of Mexico."

"The best proof that Mexico is willing to comply with her international obligations and to protect the life and interests of foreigners lies in the fact that, although according to international law, she was not bound to it, she invited all the nations whose citizens or subjects might have suffered during the political upheavals that have taken place in the country, with a view to conclude with them conventions to establish joint commissions that might consider said damages in order to grant due indemnifications. Besides that, another convention was entered into by the United States to adjust claims of citizens of both countries against the other and in said convention are included all masses in which the cases submitted to their decision are irrelevant to charge Mexico with failure to protect American interests in violation of her international obligations."

"The application of the agrarian laws cannot be a subject of complaint because Mexico

Against a murderous mob invading their settlement, after having already killed one foreigner, a Japanese. Refusing to admit that any responsibility for the massacre lay with the British, the reply cites a previous warning allowing the anti-British agitation to go unchecked and asks that energetic measures be taken to check it.

The note concludes with an expression of hope that the Chinese Foreign Office will issue a statement giving a correct version of the incident and thus dispel the prejudice which it says has been created by mendacious stories. Chinese students, merchants, shop-keepers and workmen in the recent demonstration made here during the present trouble today went to the Foreign Office and demanded that the Chinese Government sever relations with Great Britain and instruct the Tuchen of Hankow forcibly to take possession of the British concession there.

Chinese Band Killed British Engineer Near American Club.
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chinese Daily News (Copyright 1925). SHANGHAI, June 15.—An armed band of Chinese attacked a car on the municipal road outside the foreign settlement near the American Country Club, shot dead a British engineer and wounded his woman companion twice.

The band, several strong, fired at the car as it was proceeding along the road after the woman took the wheel after the man was killed, driving the car to the nearest police post station.

It is believed the crime was committed by hoodlums lying in wait for foreign automobiles. This was the first violence during the strike for several days and indicates the strained feeling outside the settlement.

MATHEWS DIVORCE SUIT GOES TO TRIAL

Manager of Material Firm at Alton Tells of His Wife Refusing to Live There.

Testimony began before Judge Peary of the Court of Domestic Relations today in the divorce suit of Harry B. Mathews Jr., vice president and general manager of the Mississippi Lime and Material Co., Alton, against Mrs. Marie Mathews, who resides at the Missouri Athletic Association, testified in support of his allegations that his wife strenuously objected to making her home in Alton, where they resided, and was unimpaired of the limits of his pocketbook.

Mrs. Mathews is a daughter of the late Edward W. McKenna, one-time vice president of the Chicago and St. Paul Railroad, who left her a half interest in a $500,000 trust fund, which was cut off when the estate was thrown into litigation last September. Mathews divorced his wife in 1922, at Edwardsville, but an appellate court set aside the decree on his wife's motion.

Tells of Their Life in Alton.
The first year of their married life, 1910, was pleasant, Mathews testified, but after that there was constant quarreling. They resided at Alton until Feb. 2, 1918. Trades people, Mathews said, were accused by his wife of living about their bills, and she refused to pay them; sometimes, but his inquiries showed the bills were correct, which made her angry, and once, he said, she slapped him.

Because she had lived in New York and Chicago, Mrs. Mathews disliked everything about Alton, and said that while New York was "the center of everything," Alton was "the tail," the plaintiff testified.

Mathews told how he and McKenna each paid for half of his house at Alton, and how they put both shares in his wife's name, at her father's suggestion, several years ago.

Used Stock Against Him, He Says.
As a wedding gift, Mathews said, he gave his wife several shares of stock in his company, but that later she tried to get him out of the company by using "stock" and influencing other stockholders, in an effort to satisfy her desire to leave Alton.

When they were married he was making only $150 a month, Mathews declared, but his wife had an equal sum as an allowance from her father; however, although he gave her his pay, he often received demands to pay bills, he said. In 1914, when his salary was $250 a month, his wife bought a cow, a horse, chickens and pigs, and they had to hire a man to care for them, although he couldn't afford it.

Mathews added that his wife refused to associate with his friends, falsely accused him of going with other women and pointed out other men as her ideal, comparing him unfavorably with them.

MAN SITTING IN AUTO SLAIN, GIRL COMPANION SHOT

Illinoisan Had Been Sued for Divorce—Young Woman Assaulted by Slay.

AURORA, Ill., June 15.—Ivan Blake, a married man of Glen Ellyn, Ill., whose wife had sued him for divorce, was shot and killed late last night on a lonely road near Bloomingdale, while sitting in a park automobile with Miss Frances Schuster, 25, of Glen Ellyn. Schuster was shot through the jaw and, according to her story, was assaulted by a young and sturdy built man of blond complexion. He wore a brown cap and blue coat, she said, and trousers which she thought were brown. He escaped on foot. She had never seen him before.

She is at a hospital in Wheaton and will recover. The place of the murder is about 25 miles west of Chicago in Dupage County. State's Attorney Read took charge of the case last night. He was at first inclined to believe the story Miss Schuster told was incoherent, but when he learned that a bicycle found at the crime scene had been stolen from a farm nearby an hour before the murder, he was satisfied, he said, that the girl's narrative was largely correct.

Young Wrote Letters of Inquiry to Wife's Friends in East.
NEW YORK, June 15.—Dr. Thomas W. Young of Los Angeles, who has confessed that he killed his wife, tried to keep up the masquerade that she had vanished unaccountably by writing letters of inquiry to her friends, Mrs. Sigurd Nathan of Brooklyn disclosed today. Mrs. Nathan, friend of Mrs. Young, exhibited two letters purporting to come from Dr. Young since his wife disappeared. The letters made inquiry as to his wife's whereabouts.

Young even addressed two typewritten letters to his wife in care of Mrs. Nathan. Patrick Grogan, the slain woman's 17-year-old son, also wrote his mother in care of Mrs. Nathan.

Young's first letter received in March, Mrs. Nathan stated, referred to "Grace" as a "wonderful wife" and a "devoted mother of Patrick." This letter said that Mrs. Young had disappeared on the night they "had motored out to the Blimere." While Young went to park the car, the letter said, "Grace unaccountably left by another door and that is the last I have seen of her." The second letter received by Mrs. Nathan some two weeks later, told how happy the Youngs had been in their new home.

FORFEITS $25,000 BOND OF ALLEGED ROBBER

Judge Taylor Acts When Patrick Scanlon Fails to Appear in Bank Holdup Case.

The $25,000 bond of Pat Scanlon, alleged Hogan gangster charged with complicity in the holdup of the Mount City Trust Co., was declared forfeited today upon Scanlon's failure to appear when the case came up for trial in Circuit Judge Taylor's court.

The bond was signed by Sam Arky, commissior, merchant and professional bondsman; Henry West, negro messenger for Circuit Clerk John Schmoll and St. W. Ogletree of the defense to gain a continuance of the case, and no little displeasure when the case was pending.

As to the bondsmen, records show that several previous bond forfeitures totaling $4800, none of which has come to judgment, are already charged to Arky, and forfeitures of $2000 are registered against West. No record of qualifications of any sort for Ogletree could be found.

Informed circles declare that the forfeiture by Scanlon was a maneuver of the defense to gain a continuance of the case, as the present law permits a man to forfeit a bond and then appear later and have it reinstated by paying costs. The State first planned to try Scanlon ahead of Herbert J. Ken, who was acquitted Saturday, because the case against Scanlon was considered stronger, but this was averted by the defense and the $25,000 bond obtained.

Arky today expressed the opinion that Scanlon would appear shortly, saying he saw the man Friday night in Hogan's saloon at Jefferson and Cass avenues, and Scanlon remarked that he was "staying on advice of counsel." Even if Scanlon appears, however, and the bond reinstated, trial of the case will be delayed until September.

CITY HALL WATCHMAN KILLED BY STREET CAR

Henry B. Dorn, 76, Street Watchman at City Hall, Killed Near Home on St. Louis Avenue by Cass Car.

Henry B. Dorn, 76 years old, watchman at City Hall, was killed near his home, 4917 St. Louis avenue, at 10:15 o'clock last night, an eastbound Cass avenue car.

Dorn was to begin his watch at 11 o'clock and had just left home to go to work. He was walking from the north to the south side of St. Louis avenue, about 100 feet west of Euclid avenue, when the accident occurred. The car was driven by a man who was not identified by the police.

POST MEETING HELD BY BOARD OF FREEHOLDERS

W. Lehmann Named as Temporary Chairman and John P. Collins Temporary Secretary.

After years of discussion about advantages to St. Louis, St. Louis County and the nine county territories, which have been politically separate since 1875, the first meeting to take up official consideration of the question was held today. The meeting was held at the City Hall, and was attended by the Board of Freeholders, comprising equal groups from city and county, held under direction of the constitutional amendment adopted by the voters of Missouri last November. The board has one year in which to draft a plan of whole or partial merger of city and county, and to consider the multitude of complicated governmental questions that must be answered in the scheme of amalgamation.

14-Year-Old Chinese Schoolboy Is Artist And Crack Ball Player

Six of Sketches Made by William Ping Are Exhibited at Educational Museum — No One Taught Him to Draw.

How William Ping, 14-year-old Chinese, beat many American boys at their own game to win a gold medal as shortstop of the championship Peabody School team, 1925 winners of the Post-Dispatch trophy, lead to a story of achievement in art and in line.

He is not merely a ball player, and probably the only Chinese ball player in this part of the country, say his teachers; he is, in prospect, an artist.

Five years ago he entered the second grade in Madison, Ill., with no knowledge of English. Next September he will enter the Roosevelt High School. His grades have been over 85 near the top of his class, and he has supported himself all the way.

Six Sketches Exhibited. Teachers have encouraged him to take the art course in high school. Six of his sketches are exhibited at the Educational Museum, 202 W. of Mayor Miller and William 12-3, who is contesting the election, and the others are in the school.

"Somebody taught me to draw," he said today to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "I just picked it up myself."

"That was precisely the way he learned to play baseball," began today's ball in Madison, he said. "Somebody taught me to draw, into a game of 'catch.' That got me interested and I kept on."

"Two years ago, when I left a laundry in Madison and came to work here, I wasn't much of a ballplayer, although I was on the Madison Boy Scouts' track team. But Steve and I got lots of practice playing in the alley."

Stephen Kopsch of 1112 Rutger street, catcher of the school team, who was talking baseball in the laundry at 1112 Park avenue, said the Ping is employed and resides.

Captain of Team. "This spring Gus Foster of 1427 Dean street, who played in the outfield, drew up a petition to the principal to let us enter for the championship," Ping continued. "We got about 21 boys to it."

It is limited to one of three general divisions of the city, the whole city and county as one county under municipal government; annexation of definite portions of the county to the city without changing the city's independent status; re-entry of the city into the county, which it left in 1876, with the resultant privilege of amalgamation of sections within the city limits, under existing state laws, which are not applicable to St. Louis as an independent city. It seems likely, in view of the attitude of the city government, that the latter method may be chosen.

OLIVER MEIER TO BE NAMED TO MASTER MECHANIC POST Will Get Temporary Appointment in Fire Department, Succeeding Christ Koenig.

Oliver Meier, an engineer in the Fire Department, will be named by Fire Chief Alt as master mechanic of the department, succeeding Christ Koenig, the chief announced today. The Meier appointment will be temporary, the chief said, but will be made permanent if Meier proves satisfactory.

The dismissal of Koenig, who is a brother of Mayor Edward G. Kelly, was announced Saturday, and was occasioned by an order of Director Brod of the Department of Public Safety. It takes effect July 1. The salary of the master mechanic is $3,000, the post office said next in importance to that of the chief.

JURY EXONERATES BOY WHO KILLED HIS CHUM Verdict of Accident Returned at Inquest Into Death of Glenwood Coffey, 10 Years Old.

A coroner's verdict of accident, exoneration, was returned at an inquest today into the death of 10-year-old Glenwood Coffey, who was fatally shot in Charles home, 3515 North Eleventh street, Saturday, when he was returning from school. The accident occurred when Charles, in displaying his stepfather's 22-caliber automatic rifle, pointed it at Glenwood and pulled the trigger. He did not know the weapon was loaded. Glenwood died at the city hospital a few hours later.

sign, and most of them tried out for the team. For awhile I was captain, until we elected Joe Ghoully of 1723 Carroll street, who is a boxer and knows a lot about training."

Teachers call Ping a "pretty fielder," partly because of his Oriental ability to take things easily but adequately. He drove in one of the winning runs in the game which decided the championship last week.

The way his scholastic record is shown by the fact that he was elected secretary of the Current Events Club and captain, or supervisor, of the school yard.

His father is Wu Hong, a merchant at 22 South Eighth street. His mother and a smaller brother remain in Canton. Ping will continue to support himself, through high school, and then intends to become, not a ballplayer, but an artist.

HELPS TO INDICT POLICEMEN, ASKS PRAYERS FOR ACQUITTAL Weehawken "Fighting Priest" Springs Another Surprise on His Congregation.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The Rev. George F. Bennett, Weehawken's "fighting priest," who caused a sensation last winter by obtaining evidence which helped to indict a group of police officials and patrolmen as aids to bootleggers, sprang another surprise yesterday. Addressing his congregation in St. Lawrence's Catholic Church, the priest asked prayers for the acquittal of 11 of the accused policemen. The men are to go to trial today for a second time, their first having resulted in a hung jury.

Of the 11 men, nine are members of the priest's own parish, and some were in the party which the priest surprised when he went alone to the docks and threatened to punch the face of a bootlegger who was landing a cargo under alleged police protection.

Seventeen of the defendants attended the mass at which Father Bennett asked prayers for their acquittal. "You know that at present the liberty of certain members of our parish is jeopardized," the priest said. "Prayers will help. We are all anxious for the same thing—liberty. To harm them at any time is furthest from my heart and mind."

Although father Bennett was a witness for the State at the last trial of the policemen, he said at this time he believed they had "learned a lesson" and he did not want them punished further.

GROUND BROKEN FOR BUILDING Ground-breaking ceremonies for the Young Men's Hebrew Association building at Union boulevard and Enright avenue were held yesterday. Funds for the enterprise were raised two years ago. The new building will have an auditorium, library, radio room, swimming pool, gymnasium, classrooms, clubrooms and a billiard room. There also will be an employment office, cafeteria and an athletic field.

At the ceremonies yesterday, Rabbi Julian Miller Sommers delivered the invocation, and Rabbi Louis Witt spoke of the accomplishments of the Young Men's Hebrew Association.

WITNESS WAVERS IN IDENTIFICATION IN SHEPHERD CASE

Doctor, Grilled by Defense, Not Certain Defendant Is Man Who Asked About Germs.

PRISONER PARADED BEFORE THE STAND

Witness Hesitatingly Gives Replies When Defense Fires Technical Questions at Him.

By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, June 15.—One of the witnesses depended upon by the State to identify William Darling Shepherd as having displayed interest in bacteriology and introduction of typhoid germs into a human body prior to the death of William Nelson McClintock, for which Shepherd is on trial for murder, wavered in his identification today.

Dr. Amante Rongetti gazed upon Shepherd side-front and rear as he was paraded before the witness stand and agreed that the 25-year-old, iron-gray haired, white-faced, 50-year-old defendant was not of the appearance of the slender 150-pound dark young man he previously had stated came to his hospital.

Dr. Rongetti also admitted he had denied that Shepherd ever visited him and that when a friend had said he was in the hospital with the kind of business he was engaged in, get mixed up in the Shepherd murder trial, he had said he thought it better to be on the side of the State's attorney.

"As a matter of fact, nobody ever came to my institution and asked about a course in bacteriology and typhoid, and all you have said here is that," William Stewart, chief of defense counsel, asked the witness.

Discussed Changing Front. Dr. Rongetti would not agree that the attorney was correctly summing up the situation, although he did admit in answering another question that he had discussed changing front in the murder trial for $500.

"Then you don't know one of the great divisions of pathogenic germs," demanded Stewart as a strenuous test as to his qualifications as a physician and bacteriologist. "His Congregation," replied the man who had testified Shepherd sought from him instruction in bacteriology.

"Then that means you do not know," asked Stewart, getting no reply.

"Grand positive" and "grand negative," discoverers of germs and a great many technical terms mentioned in the doctor-witness displaying great hesitation in his replies.

The defense brought out that Rongetti first took his story to the Chicago Herald and Examiner, a morning newspaper, and by it was sent to the State's attorney.

The defense then heated argument in chambers, was kept from asking Rongetti about a conviction for conspiracy growing to be on the sale of diplomas taken from Marquette University, but the Court, after an argument of two hours agreed the defense might question him about his fashion and match with medical knowledge.

Shepherd Smiles During Oraldeal. As the huge bulk of Shepherd was exhibited before Rongetti like a mannequin, the spectators lost no opportunity to observe him, the first real chance of the trial to view him in all his proportions. He smiled at the questioning scrutiny with smiling composure.

"Didn't you say to Dr. McGuire that 'You ought to help me, this time like you did when I was convicted of selling fake diplomas'?" asked Stewart, and in his final question got before the jury the matter Judge Lynch had ruled after two heated hours of argument could not be brought out.

The question was ruled out, however, after another brief argument. The identity of Dr. McGuire was not brought out. A large crowd was attracted to the courtroom today by the prospect that Miss Isabelle Pope, young McClintock's fiancée, would testify.

FURNITURE DEALER'S HAND CRUSHED IN STORE ELEVATOR Louis G. Sherman, 32 years old, of 714 Leland avenue, suffered a crushed right hand and wrist, in endeavoring yesterday morning, to operate a freight elevator in the store of the Carroll Furniture Co., of which he is a part owner, at 1116 Olive st.

DESCRIBES KILLING HER FORMER SUITOR

Dorothy Perkins, on Stand, Says Shot Was Fired Accidentally in Scuffle.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, June 15.—Dorothy Perkins, 17, swore today in General Sessions Court to tell her story of the fatal shooting on St. Valentine's day, of Thomas Templeton, her former sweetheart, which she maintains was accidental.

Although nervous, she apparently was in excellent spirits compared with her condition of last week when she collapsed in court. Under the questioning of Defense Attorney Lash, the girl, in a barely audible voice, told of intimate relations she had had with Mickey Connors, her middle-aged married suitor, who now is serving a sentence for wife-beating.

These relations began in 1923, she said, when she was barely 15. Connors, she said, compelled her to keep their relations secret under threat of punishment. She met Templeton on Dec. 13, 1924, and fell in love with him.

Much Drinking at Party. Relating events leading up to the fatal St. Valentine's day party at which Templeton was shot, the girl's voice fell to barely an audible whisper. Connors and Templeton became friendly, she declared, even taking a drink together.

There was "much drinking" at the party at her home, she said, and the bedroom was littered with bottles. "Did you drink with Tommy?" questioned Defense Attorney Lash. "Yes, I had one drink," the girl answered.

"I'm drinking with Tommy," she said, her father entered the room and said: "If Connors comes up to the window, you'll go down with a bullet."

Describes Scuffle Before Shooting. "Why did you take the gun?" Lash asked the girl. "So many," she answered. "Her mother entered at this point, the girl testified, grabbed Perkins by the shoulder, and in the ensuing scuffle the shot was fired. She denied any intention of shooting Templeton and declared she could not remember having had the gun in her hand.

"I did Tommy Templeton," the girl said, when pressed as to whether the shooting was purposeful.

TWO HOMES ARE STONED DESPITE POLICE WATCH Windows Broken in Houses of Clothing Workers Who Refused to Join Strikers.

A police guard, maintained for a week over the homes of employees of the Curlee Clothing Co., who refused to join strikers, failed to save the windows of one of the number from bombardment, early yesterday.

Bricks thrown at the house of Tony Bono, 1924 North Madison street, yesterday morning, shattered a screen of an open window, landing on a bed occupied by a sleeping woman, who, however, was unharmed.

A short time later the home of Louis Canille, 2511 Sublette avenue was similarly bombarded and several windows broken.

A week ago 15 employees of the company were held by the department heads to see if employees are really familiar with the laws and ordinances relating to their duties.

Employees are urged to report to the Mayor in writing, any instance of graft, either by a city officer or employee or by anyone else, of which they have knowledge. Employees are also told to make any complaint that they have against other employees to the Mayor's office. Complaints not made in writing will receive no attention.

MAYOR SETS SELF UP AS SOLE CITY G. O. P. POWER

Miller Tells City Employees Their Tenure in Office Depends Entirely on Loyalty to His Principles.

TAKES THRUST AT PARTY WARD CLUBS

Asserts Employees Are to Be Sole Judges as to Contributing to Any Political Organization.

Mayor Miller, in a long address to city employees, issued today, struck at the ward Republican organizations, fostered by the City Committee, by announcing that employees are not dependent, for tenure of their jobs, on contributions to any ward club or other political power.

He further declared that there should be "no divided loyalty" and that "no employee can properly serve two masters." "Undivided loyalty," he continued, "is expected from all city employees. No one should expect to remain as a city employee who is not in sympathy with the policies of the administration."

Statement on Contributions. Within the last two weeks, city employees have been asked to contribute to the fund for the defense of the Igoo suit, contesting Miller's election to the office of mayor. Many have paid, but apparently they need not have done so, for the Mayor says, in today's statement:

"The charter specifically prohibits the levying of any assessment, directly or indirectly, on municipal employees. The tenure of municipal employees is in no way dependent on their contributions to any ward club, political organization or any other political power. The employee himself is to be the sole judge whether he contributes to any political or other organization, and his failure to do so shall in no way affect his tenure."

The demand for "undivided loyalty" then follows. "It is highly important," the Mayor declares, "that employees of the city government should read the platform on which this administration was elected, as that, together with the charter and ordinances, will be the guide as long as I am Mayor."

Demands as to Work. The Mayor's address goes on to demand a business administration, with courtesy to everyone. His is not to mean, he says, that employees need submit to abuse from the public. The hours of labor, the Mayor declares, are reasonable and must be observed by all employees, and any departure from those hours must be on authorization of a superior official and for good cause.

"All employees," it is declared, "should familiarize themselves with the ordinances relative to the departments in which they work. At some later date an examination will probably be held by the department heads to see if employees are really familiar with the laws and ordinances relating to their duties."

Employees are told that they must not use their position to intimidate anyone or to obtain any special privilege.

Employees are urged to report to the Mayor in writing, any instance of graft, either by a city officer or employee or by anyone else, of which they have knowledge. Employees are also told to make any complaint that they have against other employees to the Mayor's office. Complaints not made in writing will receive no attention.

"Great Things Expected." "Great things are expected of this administration," the Mayor declares. "And many time-worn customs must be abolished. He discards the need for economy, and declared that 'the foes of honest government are on the alert' and that 'the most dangerous gangster is not necessarily the gunman.' The note ended with a demand for thorough co-operation by all city employees.

MAN IMPRISONED 57 HOURS CENTER OF FAMILY REUNION

Hundreds of Friends and Strangers Also Call on Miner Rescued From Tunnel.

By the Associated Press. GRASS VALLEY, Cal., June 15. —Bathed and clad in clean clothes, refreshed with sleep and food, Robert Hill, imprisoned for 57 hours in the black hole of the Baltic Mine tunnel here, and released shortly before midnight Saturday, was the center of a family reunion at his home here yesterday.

Hundreds of friends and many strangers called during the day to see the man who had cheated death by less than a minute. Hill has been further advanced in his journey to the mouth of the tunnel Thursday afternoon he would have been rescued in the cave-in which imprisoned him.

Hill told for scores of times the sensations of hope and dread, hunger, cold and fatigue which he experienced after he was imprisoned by a 50-foot slide in the tunnel in which he had dropped behind his companions in going off shift.

His first knowledge that he was imprisoned, he said, was when he stumbled in the obstruction.

GIRL'S HOLDUP DREAM BECOMES A REALITY

Highwaymen Confront Theater Cashier Night After She Experiences Phantom Robbery.

If Miss Marian Collins, 19-year-old cashier at the Queen's Open-Air Theater, Maffitt and Marcus avenues, had believed in dreams, precautions might have been taken to prevent a robbery in which four masked youths got $272 of the theater's receipts, at $45 o'clock last night.

Saturday night, Miss Collins ate an unusually heavy lunch on returning from the theater at a late hour, to which she attributed the fact that she dreamed she was being held up. After spending a sleepless night she went to work yesterday evening to experience in reality the old dream she had dreamed of the night before. She said the details of the phantom hold-up, as she recalled them, were similar to her experience last night.

"How many?" Miss Collins questioned someone at the ticket window, without looking up. "Give us all the money you have," a roughly dressed man, holding a handkerchief to his eyes, said as he pointed a revolver at her. Miss Collins pushed a sum of change and a $50 roll of currency toward him, but another member of the quartet, who had stationed himself at the side of the booth, saw the remainder of the money and demanded it. Two other men, with handkerchiefs to their faces, stood menacingly, with drawn revolvers.

The cashier pushed the money toward them, fainting as she saw them run south toward an alley. She was taken to her home at 6245 Delmar Boulevard.

Thomas Curley, 4940 Kennerly avenue, manager of the theater, came from inside the theater just as the robbers fled.

Two Men Held Up Office of Driverless Taxicab. Two masked men entered the office of the Driverless Taxicab Co., 505 North Channing avenue, at 2 a. m. yesterday, holding up the manager, Arthur S. Brinkmeyer, of 3578 W. on boulevard; Joseph Brown, a night watchman, and an employee. After taking $125 from the cash drawer the robbers fled, commanding the occupants of the office to remain on the floor for five minutes.

Clarence Elmore of 1130 Ridge avenue, was robbed of $30 and a watch by man at Pennsylvania and Loughborough avenues as he was returning home at 3:55 a. m. today.

Two men who ordered soda in the saloon of Joseph Langros, 2323 North Broadway, at 2 a. m. yesterday, pulled out revolvers instead of money when they started to pay for their drink. They ordered Langros, two customers and two unnamed private watchmen to lie on the floor behind the bar. After taking $5 from the cash register and $38 from Langros' pockets, they fired a shot into the wall and ran.

A robber, obtained $75 in the holdup of a news branch conducted by William Kiriter at 2434 Charleston street, at 3 a. m. yesterday. He escaped after threatening Kiriter and a negro with a revolver.

JUDGE BECK STAYS 20 DAYS' SENTENCE AGAINST MOTORIST Defendant Promises to Pay $70 Fine for 'Careless Driving and Failure to Stop at Right.

Police Judge Beck today fined a motorist $35 each on two charges of traffic violations, and then added a sentence of 10 days in the workhouse on each of the charges. However, he stayed the workhouse sentence, when the defendant, Urban H. Zimmerman, of 1014 Hamilton avenue, said that he would pay the fine.

He was fined for failing to keep to the right of the street and for careless driving. The offenses occurred June 12 at Belt and Easton avenues.

SWIMMER DIVES IN THE MERAMEC, FAILS TO COME UP

Body of Otto Kohl, 41, Discovered 15 Minutes Later—Head Apparently Struck Ledge.

The third death this year from drowning in the Meramec River occurred yesterday when Otto Kohl, 41 years old, a grocery clerk, dived from a springboard at Cassill's landing, near Delcke, and failed to come up.

Against the advice of Joseph C. Schall, in whose grocery store at Delcke he was employed, Kohl, who had complained of feeling badly, decided at 6:10 p. m. to go swimming. Directly under the springboard from which he dived is about eight feet of water, but about 15 feet away is a rock ledge in shallow water and it is believed that in diving Kohl struck this ledge and was rendered unconscious.

His absence was not discovered until one of the party of swimmers struck his body in diving about 15 minutes later. Believing it to be some member of his party who was diving also the swimmer did not bring the body to the surface the first time he touched it. However when he discovered that no one else had dived, he dived again and recovered the body. Kohl's head was bruised, an examination disclosed.

Efforts to resuscitate Kohl by first-aid treatment were unsuccessful. He had been employed by Schall about two years. He formerly lived in Dixon, Ill.

Rabbi's Son, 19, Drowns in Water
Only Four Feet Deep.

While swimming in water only four feet deep, David Kilman, 19-year-old son of Rabbi John Kilman of Belleville, was seized with cramps and drowned in St. I. berk Lake, a short distance from the city, at 4:30 p. m. yesterday.

The youth had attended a picnic of the Belleville Hebrew Sunday school at Elmer's Hill and after eating a heavy meal, went with several companions to the lake, a quarter of a mile distant. The others observed his plight from the bank and dragged him out, but efforts to revive him with a pulmonary failed. He was known as a good swimmer. His body was taken to an undertaking establishment where an inquest will be held this afternoon.

Kilman and his parents, who came to this country from Poland about a year ago, had resided in Belleville three months, having come there from New York.

BENEFIT BALL GAME BRINGS ICE FUND $200

Commission Men Forward
Check for Proceeds From Sportsman's Park Affair.

CONTRIBUTIONS:
Previously acknowledged, $8801.1
Commission Men's Ball Game 200.00
J. H. Cook, 4239 Lee avenue 5.00
Janet Mackey, 6910 Pershing avenue 1.19

Total $907.33

Proceeds from the baseball game between the Poultry, Butter and Egg Exchange, and the Sportsman's Park Sunday morning, June 7, added $200 to the Post-Dispatch Free Ice for Babies' Milk Fund. Charles L. Schaper, 1100 North Third street, business manager of the affair, forwarded a check for that amount to the fund Saturday.

The game, which has been an annual affair for many years, was the first large benefit of the season for the babies.

Janet Mackey, 6910 Pershing avenue, University City, sent $1.19 to the Ice Fund, saying "I have earned this and am giving it to the babies." The donation will provide ice for 12 days for a family of five. They are quarantined, since the four-weeks' old baby and the two other children, also under school age, have scarlet fever. The 20 pounds of ice each day will keep their milk from souring and provide cooling drinks for them during hot, feverish days.

J. H. Cook, 4239 Lee avenue, sent $5 to the fund. The total now on hand is $907.33.

BOY, 11, 'RIDES THE RODS'
He Is Taken From Train at Memphis and Returns to St. Louis.

John McHale, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. McHale of 3569 Oxford avenue, ended his first attempt to see the world, in Memphis, Tenn., where, a dispatch relates, he was taken from the "rods" of an Illinois Central freight train.

According to information from Memphis, John was satisfied to let police make arrangements for him to return home.

Mrs. McHale told a Post-Dispatch reporter that John had run away some time ago, and that she had received a letter from her sister in Memphis that the child was with her.

FOUR ON OUTING KILLED WHEN AUTO IS HIT BY TRAIN

Machine With Party Headed Toward St. Louis Is Carried Half Mile When Struck at Staunton, Ill.

Four persons, bound for an outing near St. Louis, died beneath the wheels of a Wabash passenger train No. 3 at a grade crossing at Staunton, Ill., at 6 a. m. yesterday, when the automobile, in which they were riding, was caught by the flyer and carried for almost half a mile before the train could be stopped.

The dead:
John Zayoc, 35, a coal miner, Taylor Springs, Ill.
Joseph Zayoc, 12, his son.
Steve Zayoc, 8, his son.
Helen Baron, 15, of Taylor Springs, Ill.

The train, bound from Detroit to St. Louis, was traveling between 55 and 60 miles an hour when it struck the automobile, a half mile north of the Staunton station. It was necessary to remove the pilot of the locomotive to take the wreckage of the automobile from the tracks. The train was delayed an hour.

Michael Baron, father of Helen, said last night that the party left Taylor Springs at 4:30 a. m. to drive to St. Louis for an outing. The Zayoc and Baron families were neighbors. Mrs. Zayoc was waiting in St. Louis to join the party.

Train No. 3 is due in St. Louis at 7:15 a. m. It is not scheduled for a stop at Staunton and was said to have been 10 minutes behind time when it reached there. Engineer Ed Shively and Conductor John Schulz of Decatur, will testify at the inquest tomorrow.

She had a very sore ear for about a year and I tried everything I heard of, but nothing seemed to help it. Then I heard of Resinol and tried it. It surely did the work, for in a couple of days you could scarcely tell that the ear had ever been sore. I'd never be without Resinol Ointment again." (Signed) Mrs. C. Bartosch, 1164 E. Ohio St.

TAKE BOTH TOGETHER

Milk of Magnesia and Mineral Oil now Combined

One of the most important medical achievements of recent years is the combination of milk of magnesia and mineral oil. Haley's Magnesia-Oil successfully combines the two, and makes them doubly effective.

The oil carries the magnesia straight to the lower bowel, the seat of most so-called stomach trouble. All of the antacid properties of the milk of magnesia are applied to correcting the trouble at its source. Fumous acids are neutralized, clogged tracts are lubricated—at one and the same time. Action is prompt, but devoid of griping. Delightful to take, no after-taste. Can be mixed with milk and given children without their knowledge.

Get a bottle of Haley's Magnesia-Oil today. Most druggists will it. If your mail supply you, we will mail a bottle postpaid on receipt of price. Large family size, $1. The Haley M-O Company, Indianapolis, Ind.

a compound fracture of the right leg, while Sands suffered several ribs broken. They are in a hospi-

Chorus for "Electra" Wanted
BY THE GARDEN THEATER

Miss Margaret Anglin will require about fourteen stately and youthful women, slightly above the average height, of good proportion, with some stage experience and dramatic culture, to serve as part of the Greek chorus for "Electra."
A tentative group of fifty will be chosen at a try-out to be held at the ST. LOUIS ARTISTS' GUILD, UNION AND EN-RIGHT AVES., THURSDAY EVENING, JUNE 18TH, AT 7:30.
The final selection will be made by Miss Anglin upon her arrival in St. Louis about the last week in June.

Dr. Jekyll
or Mr. Hyde

Your Credit Record is one or the other

THE kindly, helpful Dr. Jekyll had hundreds of friends and was respected by a community.
The mean and leering Mr. Hyde was hated.

Oddly enough, they were one and the same man—with two personalities. The good qualities would assert themselves at one time; and the evil influences at another.

Your credit record has the same possibilities for good or evil. If you keep your promises and meet your obligations in the manner that you agreed, the world will accept you as careful and trustworthy.

If bills go unheeded and payment promises are broken, the world knows you as a "poor-risk," as undependable and as thoughtless of the welfare of those who depend upon you. The clearing house of credit information makes it easy for the world to learn these things.

It is easy to make your credit record a Dr. Jekyll —and it is very, very profitable.

THE STORES of ST. LOUIS extend credit for your convenience. They want you to get the fullest possible benefit from it. However, out of fairness to them as well as protection to you, they ask that you meet the payments in the manner that you agreed.

Keep Faith
—with us and we'll keep faith with you.

500,000 GIFT BY GUGGENHEIM FOR AVIATION SCHOOL

Early Half of Fund to Be at New York University; Balance for Maintenance.

Leased Wire From the New Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, June 15.—A stride toward aviation development on a scale never before has been taken through presentation of Daniel Guggenheim to New York University of $500,000 for establishment of a school of aeronautics in the university's college of engineering.
In his letter accompanying the offer, Guggenheim expressed the hope that "it will promote the welfare of our country in time of peace and the safety of our country against aggression in time of war."
"I understand," his letter says, that approximately $225,000 of the fund will be required and is to be used for the purpose of building and equipping a building, a tunnel, propeller laboratory, wind tunnel, propeller laboratory, model testing laboratory, power plant laboratory and classrooms.
"I understand that the balance of the fund will be required to provide for the salaries of a professor and assistant professor and instructor in aeronautics and two research assistants, and also for the maintenance of the building and equipment."
Aeronautical Schools Abroad.
Chancellor Brown, in accepting the gift, wrote to Guggenheim:
"While in Germany there are 11 universities giving aeronautical instruction under the supervision of the Ministry of the Interior, and in England, France and Italy a number of schools specializing in aeronautics. In this country there are only three such schools, of which New York University has the only one giving a full four-year undergraduate course."
Necessarily, the development of aviation up to this time has been in the hands of military engineers and practical men, although the most intensive study of aerodynamics, thermodynamics, stability and other problems which only theoretical investigation and experiment can solve.
Chancellor Brown said the new school would be named "The Dennis Guggenheim School of Aeronautics."
Guggenheim's interest in aviation is due partly to the fact his son, Harry P. Guggenheim, was a pilot during the war.
Guggenheim in his letter said:
"At some time I have been impressed with the need for placing a school of aeronautics in this country."

INCOMES OF $26,336,337,843 TAXABLE IN 1923 REPRESENT $5,000,125,313 GAIN IN YEAR

$1,000,000 Earnings Increase From 67 to 74 —
Per Capita Net Report Was $237.27 and the Tax $6.34.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
WASHINGTON, June 14.—Reflecting the increased prosperity of the country, incomes reported to the Government for tax purposes in 1923 increased to $26,336,337,843.
This was a gain of $5,000,125,313 over the national taxable incomes of 1922. Its significance is seen by comparison with the increase of $1,779,000,000 from 1921 to 1922.
The Internal Revenue Bureau has given out preliminary statistics on income tax collections for last year, for which the income was earned by taxpayers in 1923. There was a loss of $157,095,143 in actual tax, but had Congress not authorized a refund of 25 per cent, the increase showing the forward movement of business would have totalled $7,558,912.

Million-dollar incomes increased in number from 67 to 74, thereby continuing the upward trend which began in 1922. The history of the number of $1,000,000 incomes reported since the income tax law was adopted follows: 1914, 60;
1915, 120; 1916, 204; 1917, 141;
1918, 67; 1919, 65; 1920, 33; 1921, 21; 1922, 67, and 1923, 74.

The preliminary report did not list the $1,000,000 incomes by States. There was, however, less significance to this phase of the report than formerly because the incomes described were those on which the tax was made public by the Treasury last October.

Tax of $881,301 Paid.
The only return which stood alone in an income class and which consequently showed the size of the income was for $2,527,914, on which the tax paid was $881, 301. This return was submitted by the head of a family, but not as a joint return of husband and wife.
There was some supposition it might be Secretary Mellon's, but Secretary Mellon paid a tax of $1, 713,987.45.

There were four returns for incomes of $5,000,000 or more.
Grouped, these returns represented a net income of $32,494,629. This represented an average income of approximately $8,000,000. Publicity of income tax returns showed that John D. Rockefeller Jr. paid a tax of $7,485,169.41, which would be the highest class were little above the $5,000,000 mark.

Last year the report for 1922 earnings showed two $5,000,000 incomes in Michigan, presumed to be those of Henry and Edsel Ford; one in New York, presumed to be that of the younger Rockefeller and one in New Jersey.
The increase in number of returns filed compares with the increase in national income. The

PLANS COMPLETED FOR NEW AQUARIUM

Display Tanks Will Be Arranged So Large-Crowds
May Be Handled Readily.

John Wallace, permanent architect of the Forest Park Zoo, has completed the plans for the aquarium which is to be built there, and which will enable the zoo to include fish of many varieties in its collection of specimens.

The people authorized $400,000 in bonds for the aquarium in the bond issue of 1923, and this money was included in the original program of 1923 projects, but at present, due to the volume of improvement work on hand, it appears that this structure will not be undertaken before next year.

The accompanying conception of the exterior appearance of the aquarium has not been made public heretofore. Architect Wallace also designed the new monkey house, which is attracting international interest.

A feature of the interior design of the aquarium will be the arrangement of display tanks so that large crowds of spectators can be handled readily, by keeping visitors moving in one direction and still giving them opportunity to see all displays conveniently. There will be simulation of underwater surroundings in the tanks to make the appearance of the denizens of the deep more realistic. Fresh and salt water fish are to be on exhibition, it being proposed to bring salt water here in tanks.

As in the case of the monkey house, the chief reason for elaborate design of the aquarium, as well as suitable for fish. Another house planned for the zoo, out of general revenue, in the future, will accommodate tropical birds. St. Louis has a zoo which is rated as the equal in most respects of any in the country, of which it entertains large crowds of local and out-of-town visitors.

ELECTION ON ANNEXATION OF ADELE PLACE TO KIRKWOOD

Special Vote Will Be Taken Sat-

Difference of Opinion.
A special election to decide the proposed annexation of Adele Place, a settlement at the intersection of Denny and Manchester roads on the northern boundary of Kirkwood, by the latter municipality will be held at Kirkwood next Saturday.

The subject of annexation has caused a difference of opinion both in Kirkwood and among the 80 residents of Adele Place. Forty of the latter persons voted against annexation by Kirkwood at a meeting held last Saturday. It was also discussed for the incorporation of the place as a fourth-class municipality to defeat the annexation action.

TO USE 132,000-VOLT CABLE

Underground Cable Line, to Be Operated at 132,000 Volts, Twice the Pressure of the Most Powerful Underground Cable Line Now Used Com-mercially, Will Be Installed in the Bronx by the General Electric Co. of Schenectady for the New York
Edison Co. It is announced today.
Up to two years ago the highest pressure used in underground cables in America was 23,000 volts.
The new line, which is to cost about $2,500,000, will link together the generating stations of the New York Edison Co. and its sub-stations, reducing the possibility of interruption to the Fire Department's pumping of water during a fire. Any lowering of such water pressure will impose a penalty of $400 a minute on the company during the entire period of inadequate pressure.

PRESIDENT DECLINES TO CUT SUGAR TARIFF

Says Duty Encourages Farmer to Diversify Crops, and Points to Comparatively Low Price of Commodity.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
WASHINGTON, June 15.—Two years and two months after the Tariff Commission began an investigation to determine if the tariff were responsible for acute and sudden rise in the price of sugar, President Coolidge has handed down his conclusion on the commission's report. He overruled the commission's majority and left the duty unchanged.

The President prepared his findings for publication before leaving yesterday on a Mayflower cruise, and issued them without explanation.

Following his failure to act on the sugar question during the campaign, though frequently attacked by both his adversaries, and his silence after the election and after the adjournment of Congress, it had been presumed the sugar report was pigeon-holed permanently and the prospects of a tariff change had died by default.

Mr. Coolidge assigned various reasons for what he termed the postponement of affirmative action on the report. The first was that the price of sugar has dropped since the acute period of 1923, under the current price of two and one-half cents a pound on raw sugar, duty unpaid, is below the average pre-war price. Refined sugar, he said, is virtually back to pre-war prices.

Revenue From Sugar.
He cited the immense revenue derived from the sugar duty and pointed out that to alter it would cost the Treasury $40,000,000 annually. Calling attention to the beet sugar industry, he said the country should be independent, as far as possible in its food supply, and mentioned the advantages from stimulating sugar beet planting.

He also perceived danger in the tendency toward larger holdings in the foreign sugar field and declared that, while he did not charge there were foreign combinations in restraint of trade, the consumer can be safeguarded only by the assurance of competitive domestic supplies.

"The American farmer receives advice on every hand to diversify his crops," said the President. "He proceeds to do so by going in for sugar beet culture, protected from the competitive impact of cheap Cuban labor by a tariff duty of 1.75 cents per pound on Cuban raws. The American farmer is thus in process of building up a great home agricultural industry which at once improves the farmer's soil, enables him to diversify crops and tends to release the American people from dependence upon the foreigner for a major item in the national food supply. The farmer is entitled to share along with the manufacturer direct benefits under

The sun was high behind broken

NEW JAZZ OPERA IN MOZART WINS CHICAGO TRIUMPH

First Act of "The Music Robber," Experiment in American Rhythms, Is Given.
TO BE PRODUCED AT MUNICIPAL THEATER
Work of Isaac Van Grove and Richard L. Stokes Moves Brilliant Audience Profoundly.

By HARRY R. BURKE.
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, June 15.—Jazz opera became an accomplished fact yesterday afternoon when the first act of "The Music Robber" was produced before a brilliant audience of musical enthusiasts at the Municipal Theater. On this occasion the American Theater for Musical Productions made its first presentation—an excerpt from a new work based upon incidents in the life of Mozart, and a one-act opera, "The Legend of the Piper," founded upon Josephine Preston Peabody's play of that name.

One might expect jazz opera from Chicago, which has taken to its bosom the music of the city. Ben Hecht and the stockyards. But to weave such an opera from the life of Mozart required the collaboration of Richard L. Stokes, music and drama critic of the Post-Dispatch, and part of all of the work under the name of "The Stolen Requiem," will be produced here by the American Theater for Musical Productions during its grand opera season at the Municipal Theater next August.

Paradoxical seems the combination of Mozart and jazz. But both in book and music the work, as presented yesterday, achieved complete approval from its most discriminating Chicago musical audiences. Isaac Van Grove, the composer and conductor, wrote his score in the belief that all great opera is written in rhythms idiomatic to the nation which produces them—regardless of where the scene is laid. "The Music Robber" uses characteristically American syncopation and purposes of humor adopts candid jazz effects.

Emotional and Comic Effects.
But Van Grove has not written in the usual and vulgar sense. He has used the symphonic form in his musical structure. His rhythms become contrapuntal in their character. Sometimes subtle, sometimes employed frankly to increase the emotional tension of the scene, they are never blatant except for the purposes of fun. Throughout there is manifest a genuine melodic gift and an unflagging invention. Van Grove's understanding of the orchestra—gained from experience as assistant to Giorgio Pollack, musical director of the Chicago Civic Opera Co.—resulted in an instrumentation always pleasing and always interesting and often brilliant indeed.

Where a lesser man might have fallen back upon Mozartian themes for the musical development of a highly dramatic story, Van Grove has used but three, and those only as a slight and reminiscent echo of the master. These are taken from the overture to "The Magic Flute," from the minuet in "Don Giovanni" and from the Requiem. Yet for all the difference in the idiom—and the modern rhythms of Van Grove and those of Mozart are worlds apart—the music of the Chicago composer has a winsome zest such as one associates with that of the libretto's hero.

Medal Given to Composer.
But whatever Van Grove's accomplishment—and it was such as to win for him the presentation of the David Bispham Memorial Medal by the Society of American Opera at the close of the work yesterday—it is the direct outcome of inspiration furnished by a perfect libretto.

The story is romantically developed from the circumstances under which Mozart produced his last work—the Requiem. A stranger, shortly before his death, offered him money to compose a mass. The stranger was the steward of Count von Wolfegg, a nobleman who having failed as a composer and being altogether barren of talent, sought to buy such a work and have it presented to the world as his own. Mozart fell into a conspiracy, believing that the mysterious mission was a portent of his approaching death.

From these facts Mr. Stokes has woven a romantic story of love and intrigue. The work is stolen from the master as page by page it falls from his hand—the thief being disguised as a specter of Death which Mozart has beheld in a vision. It is performed at the Viennese court and the Count is honored in competition over other musicians of his day. Through that success he expects to win the hand of flirtatious Nancy Storace, who really loves him.

Genuine and Deep Emotion.
But the fraud is exploded and in the end happiness reigns. Haydn and Beethoven, contemporaries of Mozart, appear upon the scene and in the development of the story and

Social Activities

MR. THOMAS JEFFERSON MOORE of 20 Lenox place, has as his guest Mrs. Dandridge Caldwell of Nashville, Tenn. The visitor has been delightfully entertained at informal parties for the past few days and will remain another week. About June 25, Mrs. Moore, with Mrs. Maude Lawton and her daughter, Miss Janet Lawton, will depart for Eaton's Ranch, in Wolf, Wyo., to remain until autumn. Mr. Moore will join his wife later.

Mrs. Frederick R. Hatterley of New York is the guest of Mrs. John H. Douglas of 15 Vandeventer place.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hellmuth of 4483 Maryland avenue, and their children, will go to Wequetonizing, Mich., about June 26, for the summer.

Two St. Louis young women received their degrees from Smith College at Northampton, Mass. Miss Clara Galt, daughter of Thomas Galt, of 63 Vandeventer place, completed her course with honors in history. She was class president and publisher of "The Weekly," the college paper, a member of the International Relations Club, member of the basketball, crew and hockey teams, and has taken part in inter-collegiate debates. Miss Galt will return to Smith for social work.

Miss Mary Sloan, daughter of Mrs. James M. Sloan, of 5545 Perdue, was chairman of the Judicial Board of the Student Government Association, the governing body of the college.

Miss Mary Francis Dickinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dickinson of 414 Union boulevard, will depart July 15 for Hynnisport, Mass., where she will spend a month as the guest of Miss Marceline Reburn, daughter of Mrs. Charles Fletcher Sparks, at the Sparks summer home. Mrs. Dickinson will go to Point-aux-Barques, Mich., in July to visit Mrs. George Drew of 470 Lake avenue for two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Patter and son Walter, of 2 Hampton Park, left today for their summer home at Osakis, Minn., to be gone until Sept. 1.

Miss Dorcas Carr Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Jackson Taylor, of 4607 Maryland avenue, has arrived home after graduating last week from Eden Hall, Torrance, Pa., where she was valedictorian of her class. She will make her debut in the fall.

Miss Maud Street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark Street, of 4218 Lindell boulevard, who was a student at Pine Manor, Welleles, Mass., spent winter, is at a house party at New Haven, Conn.

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Shepley of 4943 Pershing avenue will depart July 1 for their summer home, where they have a summer home. They will have as their guest for July in the characterization of the men and times Mr. Stokes' profound musical knowledge serves in splendid stead. As an introduction to the character of the music as disclosed in the character of the men, the libretto might well serve as a text book. There are lyrics of genuine beauty, and the verse throughout discloses a facility in rhyme, together with fine humor and at times a pungent wit. Genuine literary quality and a fine appreciation of dramatic values make the book well worth reading for itself, and certainly detract none from its value as an opera.

The combination of book and music evoked a genuine and deep emotion from yesterday's audience, and although it was at times too deep for applause, it manifested itself at the close of the performance in a distinct ovation and many recalls.

Former St. Louisian in Cast.
Among the young singers who volunteered for the production were Robert Malone, a former St. Louisian, who played Mozart. He is a beautiful tenor voice and his "Good Night" duet with Myra Platt Peach, as Constanza, brought about one of the deepest emotional reactions of the performance.

Howard Preston disclosed fine voice and method in his Count von Wolfegg, and by the authority of his dramatic art made the characterization a presentation rather than a representation. Mable Shorwood was vivacious and delightful in the rather thankless role of Nancy, Luther Lester's stage settings pleased.

Incidentally another young St. Louisian, Oliver Smith, also a tenor, was the Piper in Mrs. Eleanor Everett Free's opera, which presented "The Music Robber."

The American Theater for Musical Productions, of which Van Grove is director, hopes to achieve for native opera something of that which the Provincetown and Greenwich Village theaters did for American drama—and critics yesterday united in declaring its first effort a success.

ATERIZATION a presentation rather than a representation. Mable Shorwood was vivacious and delightful in the rather thankless role of Nancy. Luther Lester's stage settings pleased.

MISS JULIA KLIPSTEIN.

MR. AND MRS. ERNEST C. KLIPSTEIN of 8244 Washington boulevard, will depart for the East by motor about July 1, to spend the summer at "The Gables" in Hynnisport, Mass. They will also visit Miss Bennett's School in Millbrook, N. Y., where Miss Klipstein will be a student next season.

A group of St. Louis girls who were graduated this month with Miss Klipstein, from Mary Institute, will attend the Bonnet School. Included in the group are Misses Dorothy Remis, June Morgens, Judith Blanke, Dorothy Green and Janet Spencer.

their daughter-in-law, Mrs. John Rutledge Shepley, and the latter's small son. Mrs. John R. Shepley will go to Point-aux-Barques, Mich., for August, to be with her mother, Mrs. Albert T. Terry and Miss Lucy Terry, at their summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Stifel of 4546 Lindell boulevard have a cottage at Narragansett Pier, R. I., and will depart for the East about July 1.

Misses Clara and Mary Stinde have had as their guest for a week their brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Martyn of New Orleans. Mr. and Mrs. Martyn made the trip by motor.

The Misses Louise and Mildred Frank of Little Rock, Ark., were entertained for a few days last week at the home of Miss Dorothy Milestone, 5520 Pershing avenue. The Misses Frank were enroute to New London, Conn., on their way home from school.

The American Theater for Musical Productions, of which Van Grove is director, hopes to achieve for native opera something of that which the Provincetown and Greenwich Village theaters did for American drama—and critics yesterday united in declaring its first effort a success.

J. N. BASKETT, AUTHOR AND NATURALIST, DIES

He Was Recognized as Authority on Bird Life—Funeral at Mexico, Mo.

The funeral of James Newton Baskett, Missouri author and naturalist, will be tomorrow afternoon at Mexico, Mo., where he lived for more than 40 years. He died yesterday, at the age of 76, in a private sanitarium.

Baskett was a native of Kentucky, and a graduate of the University of Missouri in the class of 1872. He followed the profession of engineering and surveying, and while in this work began to write of his observations of bird and animal life.

Besides many magazine and newspaper articles, he wrote books telling in story form, of the facts of natural history. These books are "The Story of the Birds," published in 1896; "The Story of the Fishes," 1899; "The Story of Amphibians and Reptiles," 1902; and "Whispers From Nature," 1920.

The development of his story-telling powers led to the writing of three novels, two of which have been widely read. These are "At You-All's House," 1898, and "As the Light Led," 1900. The third novel was "Sweet Briar and This-tledown," 1902.

Baskett's paper, read at the World's Congress of Ornithologists at the Chicago World's Fair, on "Kinship of Birds as Shown by Their Eggs," established his reputation as an authority on bird life.

Two sons, Cecil Morris Baskett of St. Louis and Edward G. Baskett of Houston, Tex., survive him.

NUN RECEIVES HONORARY DEGREE FROM UNIVERSITY

Mother Superior of Sisters of St. Mary Honored for Work in Hospital Administration.

The honorary degree of Doctor of Science in hospital administration was conferred last Wednesday upon Mother Mary Concordia, superior general of the Sisters of St. Mary, by Marquette University of Milwaukee.

The Sisters of St. Mary operate several hospitals here. Mother Concordia was present when the degree was conferred at the forty-fourth commencement of the university, and she wore the scholastic gown and habit.

The bestowal of such a degree upon a nun is unusual. It was given to Mother Concordia because of her work in hospital administration.

'HER REGIMENT' TO OPEN AT MUNICIPAL THEATER TONIGHT

Attendance Attracted by "Ruddigore" Slightly Below That of "Mile. Modiste."

The attendance attracted by "Ruddigore," a Gilbert and Sullivan opera, fell slightly below that of "Mile. Modiste," a fact which the Municipal Theater Association attributes to a rainstorm Friday night, which compelled the abandonment of the performance, for the first time this season.

"Ruddigore" closed last evening, and will be followed tonight by a production of "Her Regiment," a work by Victorien Sardou, which has not before been given in St. Louis. The cast enlists every member of the cast except one.

"What did Washington, Grant, Lincoln, Wilson fight for but to make us all equal?"

"I have met a man at last—rough and terrible."

HERE, in two choice subtitles from the screen you have the complete story of "Proud Flesh" at Loew's State Theater and little more need be said about it except that the picture should be a delight to every plumber in the city and a fine object lesson to every plumber's helper, for Pat O'Malley is as honest a young man as ever wiped a joint and proves, conclusively, that under every plumber's neat but not gaudy dinner jacket there beats a heart as true as steel. Eleanor Boardman plays a naughty young thing who comes from one of the first families in Spain to San Francisco. It is she who meets the rough and terrible man and on the final fade-out it is evident that she is going to marry into the best plumbing circles of the Pacific Coast.

MAKING A MAN OUT OF PERCY.

WHEN a boy is handicapped right from the start by being named Percival and is tied to his mother's apron, and figuratively of course, for mothers discarded aprons long before they commenced to bob their hair—there is only one thing to do with him if you want him to turn out as well as though he had been named Bill or Hank. Send him out West, where the spaces are as wide and open as they are in a motion-picture theater during a matinee on a Sunday afternoon in June. Men simply can't help being men out there, and so Charley Ray, in "Percy," finally becomes a regular fellow in spite of himself in a pretty good serio-comic melodrama at the Kings and Rivoli, where a revival of Harold Lloyd's "Never Again" is also being shown.

A FLIRTATION HANDICAP.

A WOMAN'S wiles can win a horse race. At the Delmonte horse track, Alleen Pringle, in "Wildfire," gets the owner of a thoroughbred horse permits a crooked owner to make love to her while she steals his handkerchief and signals to the jockey to win. "Wildfire" is a comedy, and Miss Pringle also wins the man of her choice. In this instance, he is Holmes Herbert, who entered a rival horse because he thought another man existed. "Wildfire," the picture faithfully portrays the race track atmosphere with its strutting jockeys and touts. There also is a comedy and the Kansas City Night Hawks are on the stage.

gle. History does not record that those peerless comedians, Joe and Lew, really put an end to the German espionage system in this country, but "Friendly Enemies" makes it pretty plain that they did. With-out the comedy lines of the original play the screen version is rather tiresome entertainment.

MEIGHAN A BUSY MAN.

TOM MEIGHAN, as we are told, went down to Florida and made $500,000 in real estate there. Those are movie figures of course, and subject to revision, but just the same it is fairly certain that Tom had something else on his mind besides motion pictures when he was making "Old Home Week." It is not much better on view at the Missouri Meighan one of the best and most popular of screen stars, hasn't had a good film play for a long time, and "Old Home Week" is not much better than his last four or five offerings. George Ade was responsible for the story, but he apparently contented himself with writing some clever titles and let it go at that.

aeronautics on the same educational plane that other branches of engineering enjoy.

"It has seemed to be that aviation is capable of rendering such service to the nation's business and economic welfare as well as to its defense that our universities should concern themselves with the education of highly-trained engineers capable of building better and safer commercial aircraft, and industrial engineers capable of making the operation of aircraft as a business proposition comparable to the operation of railroads.

Place in Arts of Peace.
"The great future of aviation and aeronautics is in the promotion of the arts of peace rather than war. 'Already, we have the air mail, the use of air planes in surveying, in photography, in prevention of forest fires and in fishery to indicate to us how great are the possibilities for extending the usefulness of aviation outside of the war-time employment of air planes, upon which the attention of aeronautical engineers was first concentrated.

"If we are quickly to realize for humanity and our country the ultimate possibilities of navigation of the air, we must have planes that are foolproof, stable, capable of recovering from abnormal positions, able to land in easily-available places, and with the necessary speed and carrying capacity.

"The new field of employment and endeavor that aeronautical engineering will open to young men is one of the many reasons why this gift is made. Here is an uncrowded profession, offering opportunities unmatched in possibilities."

CUT IN SUGAR DUTY "POSTPONED" BY PRESIDENT

Mainly, director of the People's Legislative Service, a La Follette organization, asked President Harding to investigate, and on March 27 the latter wired from St. Augustine, Fla., instructions for the Tariff Commission to make an immediate investigation of the relation of the sugar duty to the increases.

The commission estimated it could complete the work in six months, but consumed a year and four months. Commissioner Henry S. Glassie withdrew from participation because of family interest in sugar.

Vice Chairman William Culbertson voted with the Democrats and the commission recommended July 31, 1924, a decrease in duty, under the flexible tariff provision. A minority report favoring the present duty was filed.

Mr. Coolidge departed shortly thereafter for Plymouth, Vt., carrying the reports under his arm. He studied them while on his vacation and a decision was expected soon after his return. Instead, he asked advice of the Agriculture Department and requested the Tariff Commission to supply further data on the cost of beet sugar production. On the latter question the commission also sent a divided report.

CONSPIRACY LAW OFTEN USED IN DRY ENFORCEMENT

Practice, However, Received a Jolt in Recent Statement of Federal Circuit Judges.

PROSECUTORS TOLD TO BE CAUTIOUS

Prohibition Officials Fear Recommendations of Jurists Will Give Advantage to Bootleggers.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
WASHINGTON, June 15.—The action of the Federal Circuit Court judges in conference here last week in frowning upon the use of the conspiracy section of the United States criminal code in an effort to catch law violators is a hard blow to the prohibition unit. Commissioner Haynes and his agents have resorted to this procedure to "break up organized rings" of liquor manufacturers and sellers by asking for indictments for conspiracy instead of for violation of the Volstead Act, prosecutors brought offenders within the felony class.

In his last report, which covers the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924, Commissioner Blair of the Internal Revenue Bureau said: "The conspiracy provisions of the criminal code have been frequently invoked in the prosecution of alleged violators of the internal revenue laws and the prohibition act."

The recommendations of the Circuit Court judges are giving prohibition enforcement officials concern. They fear bad results from them, as bootleggers take every possible advantage to win.

Why Change Was Made.
Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney-General in charge of prohibition cases, will go ahead with conspiracy cases but has instructed those under her to be careful in asking for indictments and have sufficient facts.

That Haynes has depended on the conspiracy section of the criminal code to enforce prohibition is made clear in a recent announcement telling of his success as prohibition commissioner. In this he said he had "especially stressed during the last two years" the conspiracy feature. He did this because "heavier penalties are provided under this section than under the national prohibition act, and a number of persons can be included in one indictment."

More than 1500 conspiracy cases were instituted between July, 1922 and May 15 of this year, involving approximately 5000 persons. About 1850 have been convicted. The principal cause of the abuse, according to the office of the Attorney-General, is that many conspiracy cases involving Volstead Act violations go directly from the department of the prohibition commissioner to the grand juries, and indictments follow before the District Attorneys have had opportunity to review the information at hand and see if they really are conspirators.

Increase in Court Work.
The procedure has resulted in multiplying the work of Federal Courts. One effect of the recommendations of the Circuit Court judges, it is believed here, will be to make District Attorneys keep closer watch on alleged conspiracy cases.

Recently the Supreme Court has refused to review a number of prohibition cases. It has passed on most of the important questions involved and will not keep repeating them, lest its records become jammed like those of the lower courts.

Members of Congress here are manifesting interest in the increasing number of acquittals in prohibition cases. The record shows that in 1920, 125 were acquitted, in 1921 this had increased to 765, in 1922 to 1195, in 1923 the number was 1770 and in 1924 it was 2131.

FIRST DIVISION IS THE NEXT OBJECTIVE OF HORNSBY'S CARDINALS

Team Has Won 11 Out of 15 Under New Manager; Rhem To Oppose Phillies Today

Boston Braves Will Call Next and St. Louis Has Fine Chance to Increase Percentage to Point Where Fourth Place Will Be With in Easy Reach.

By Dent McKimming

Although they have no opportunity to reach fourth place during the present series with the Philadelphia Club, the Cardinals threaten to boost their percentage to a point where they will be within easy reach of first division before the end of the week. The Phils, who have dropped three straight to the Cardinals, are here today and tomorrow. Then comes Boston for four games.

While Hornsby's sluggers are hammering at Philadelphia and Boston in the next six games, Cincinnati, now in fourth place, meets Brooklyn and New York in seven games.

Without the aid of a field glass it is apparent that Cincinnati will be lucky to gain three victories out of seven games from the Giants and Dodgers whereas the cards, hitting everything for extra bases, should win four out of the six games.

In the last 15 games Hornsby's men have won 11 games, while losing only four against such opposition as the Giants, Brooklyn, Cincinnati and Philadelphia. The Phils, by the way, are not the weakest of the lot for they are leading the National League in hitting.

Rhem to Pitch Today. If the Reds win two and lose five while the Cards are winning four and losing two, the local team will be within one and one-half games of fourth place.

Today, Charles Flint Rhem, whose knuckle-ball delivery has made him one of the strikeout sensations of baseball, will face the Phillies, while Clarence Mitchell, a southpaw, is due to face Hornsby's sluggers.

Shim Little Eddie Dyer was the hero of yesterday's 11 to 7 victory over the Phillies and his defeating the visitors in the role of reliever hurled his second victory in two days. He was credited with a victory on Saturday when he revived and saved a lost cause and yesterday he did the same thing.

Sothoron Knocked Out. Allan Sothoron, apparently weakened by the excessive heat, proved no enemy to Philadelphia batters. His offerings were scattered all about the park and after he had been clouted for 11 hits and 7 runs in 5-13 innings, he was removed from the box. Dyer entered the game with the score against him, 7 to 6, two runners on the bases and one out. He struck out the first batter and retired the next on an easy fly.

In the succeeding three innings he was found for three hits and no runs. All three of the hits were scratches.

Cardinal Punch. Manager Hornsby proved himself a very indignant field general. It seemed that 14,000 of the 16,000 fans present called for Sothoron's removal from the box as early as the second inning, but Hornsby, although apparently a little worried about his pitcher, suffered him to remain until the fifth. The confidence that Hornsby has in his team's batting punch may have influenced his decision regarding Sothoron for under ordinary conditions the game would have been lost.

Ray Blades' home-run drive into the left-field bleachers tied the score at 7-7 in the sixth inning and in the seventh three runs

ALTOONA, Pa., June 15.—By his victory in the 250-mile automobile speedway race here Saturday, Peter de Paolo gained enough points to give him the 1935 championship. Officials of the American Automobile Association are expected to award the title to De Paolo before he leaves next week to participate in the Grand Prix at Vercors, Belgium.

Saturday's race was so close that a check-up after a protest by Frank Elliott resulted in a change in the standing of the first three drivers to finish. Under the revision De Paolo was declared the winner instead of Tommy Milton.

It was discovered that Milton had been credited with a lap that had been gone in the race, with the result that Elliott was placed second and Milton third. Harry Hartz finished fourth.

In the line of march will be several drum and bugle corps in uniform, boys' baseball clubs in uniform and several troops of Boy Scouts. These boys will also have a part in the raising of the Golden Jubilee pennant at Sportsman's Park, prior to the playing of a regularly scheduled championship game between the Cardinals and Braves.

Josties-Barnes Retain Triple A Doubles Honors

Brown Brothers Are Defeated in a Close Five-Set Match.

By Dent McKimming

Fred O. Josties and Charles W. Barnes retained the title as doubles tennis champions of the Triple A Club by defeating Wray and Woody Brown in the final yesterday. The match went five sets, Josties and Barnes won by scores of 3-6, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1, 6-3.

The Brown brothers played excellent tennis in the first two sets. They threatened to take the third set and match after the score stood 4-4, but the steady playing of Josties and Barnes in the next two games prevented it.

In the opening set the Brown brothers ran up a lead of 5 to 1. Josties and Barnes then took three straight games for a 5 to 3 score. The next game went to the Browns without the loss of a single point. Wray and Woody Brown kept a safe lead in the second set, which they won, 6-3.

Third Set Turning Point. The third set was the turning point. Josties and Barnes became much more accurate, while the Brown brothers fell into a slump particularly at the start, when Josties and Barnes won three straight games. Play was closer during the remainder of the set, although Josties and Barnes pulled it out at 6-4.

After the 10-minute rest the players started the fourth set. Josties and Barnes showed good team work and walked away with the set, losing only one game. The final score was 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, 6-1, 6-3.

There is a new George Burns in left field for the Phils. He is the same fellow who played with the Giants and Reds, but he is showing much more interest in the game which means that he is now one of the most valuable outfielders in the league.

When Cy Williams bats there are three infielders between second and first base and two outfielders in right. The entire defensive team except for the pitcher and catcher moves over toward right field. Not very complimentary to Williams.

Ray Blades' home-run drive into the left-field bleachers tied the score at 7-7 in the sixth inning and in the seventh three runs

The Systematic Buying of Bonds

Through the medium of a "Bond Buying Account" is an easy, profitable and certain way of building up independent income.

It means the investment of savings immediately instead of waiting until a large amount is accumulated.

It means a better income return, because the full compound interest is paid on monthly deposits.

It means a broader diversification of investments and an account of the purchase of smaller amounts of different issues.

EVOLUTION DISCUSSED IN BACCALAUREATE SERMONS

Princeton President Says Theory Is Not Incompatible With Belief in God.

NEW YORK, June 15.—The theory of evolution is being widely discussed in pulpits and commencement addresses.

It was referred to directly or indirectly yesterday in baccalaureate sermons at Princeton, Yale, Brown and Syracuse Universities.

President John Grier Hibben of Princeton University, in a baccalaureate sermon said evolution and belief in God were compatible.

"I resent the attempt to force on you and me a choice between evolution and religion," he said. "I resent also that legislatures or anyone else should try to restrict the teachings of our educational institutions."

The Rev. Dr. Charles Wesley Flint, chancellor of Syracuse University, referred to the occasional man "so limited to any isolated section of the field of knowledge that he fails to see its antecedents and sequences and becomes blinded to truth by a bit of truth."

At Brown University the Rev. Dr. Cornelius Woolfkin, whom the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick will succeed as pastor of the Park Avenue Baptist Church, New York,

RAILWAY HEADS AND LABOR LEADERS AT STONE FUNERAL

Body Lies in State for Four Hours—Then Is Taken to Congregational Church.

CLEVELAND, O., June 15.—Railroad executives, labor leaders and financiers gathered here today to pay a last tribute to Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, and head of its trust companies, co-operative banks and other holdings. Stone died Friday.

The body of the late labor leader lay in state in the auditorium of the Brotherhood of Engineers Building for four hours, during which his favorite hymns were sung.

The body then was taken for services to Euclid Avenue Congregational Church, where Stone once taught a Sunday School class. A mounted squad of police headed the funeral procession.

Harry P. Daugherty, second vice president of the Brotherhood; Harvey E. Fehr, Stone's chief clerk; George T. Webb, vice president of the Brotherhood's co-operative bank and investment company; James L. Jackson, manager of the Brotherhood building; Oscar J. Horn, chief counsel for the Brotherhood; and E. B. Wadsworth, a personal friend, were active pallbearers.

FIRES AT ROBED BAND, HELD FOR MURDER

Alabamian, Who Had Received Threatening Note, Kills One of the Intruders.

By the Associated Press.

HALEYVILLE, Ala., June 15.—John Jackson, 29, is in the Franklin County jail at Russellville, held on a charge of murder following the killing of Lee Martin, 38, late Saturday night.

Jackson has told officers that he fired on a band of robed intruders who attempted to abduct him from his home about midnight Saturday. Because of excitement here, Jackson was removed to Russellville.

Martin died about 2 o'clock Sunday morning at his own home, where he apparently had been carried by his companions. He left a widow and four children.

According to the story told by officers here, Jackson and his wife were awakened by a band that demanded admission. Jackson said he noticed through the window that they were masked and robed. As the door was crashed, Jackson said he opened fire with a shotgun.

Investigating officers found a pistol, flashlight and a piece of rope rope in the front yard of Jackson's home. Counsel asserted that a plea of self-defense will be entered at the preliminary trial.

According to Jackson, he had received a threatening note several days ago, warning him to "quit his way of doing." He told officers he could not account for the note.

CONTINUANCE IS TAKEN IN LIQUOR CONSPIRACY CASE

Counsel for Jack Daniel Distilling Co. Opposes Granting of Government's Request.

The case against Lem Motlow, Tennessee distiller, George Romus, wealthy Cincinnati bootlegger, and 15 other persons, charged with conspiracy to violate the national prohibition act, and to defraud the Government of a tax on whisky illegally removed from the Jack Daniel warehouse on Duncan avenue, was continued until the next term of court when called for trial today before Federal Judge Davis.

The continuance was granted at the request of the Government, as several of its witnesses were not available.

Patrick Cullen, who represents Motlow and two other former officials of the Jack Daniel Distilling Co., objected to granting of the continuances and insisted that the case go to trial. He said that it was the third continuance granted Government counsel.

The next term of court begins Sept. 21 and continues until March 15. The case may be tried at any time during the term, no date having been fixed as yet.

DIDN'T SAY, 'MITT ME, KING,' AMERICAN SAYS, ON RETURN

John H. Cowie Vastly Amused at Furor His Unconventional Act Caused.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—John H. Cowie, glove manufacturer of Des Moines, Ia., who shook hands with King George and introduced his son at the Wembley Exhibition last month, without going through the usual formalities, arrived today on the Adriatic, vastly amused at the furor his unconventional act caused.

"I didn't say 'Mitt me, King,' in the first place," he said, "nor did I push my way through a crowd to meet him as some of the papers reported."

What actually happened, he said, was that the King happened to stand near him and his son at one of the booths.

"I looked at the King and nodded," he related, "and he in turn nodded back cordially. I said, 'How do you do,' and asked him if he would like to shake hands with a young American, meaning my son."

"The King said 'Certainly,' and said it as if he meant it, and shook hands with both of us. After chatting with us several moments he passed on to another booth, expressing the hope we would enjoy the exhibition and our stay in England."

The episode stirred the English papers to protest against the King's being subject to informal greetings while in public.

CHARGES MADE BY MAIL
AGAINST A CITY EMPLOYEE

A copy of a purported affidavit, charging an employee of the Department of Streets and Sewers with irregularities, was received today in the mail by Circuit Attorney Siders, together with an unsigned letter asking that he proceed against the man named in the affidavit.

The man who is said to have made the affidavit charges that the city employee sold whisky at his home and disposed of animal carcasses to a St. Louis firm when a contract called for disposal in East St. Louis.

Circuit Attorney Siders said he would take no action in the matter unless the persons who sent the copy came to his office personally and "presented their complaints."

Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks said he knew nothing about the charges, and that his department, which has charge of garbage disposal, will co-operate in an investigation by the grand jury.

Motorists Warned of Deer.

By the Associated Press.

CANON, Colo., June 15.—The drought in Colorado is driving deer from the nearby mountains to the plains to seek water, and, as a result, motorists have been warned not to run into the animals while driving at night, city officials announced here last night.

The warning was issued following the killing of a deer recently by Vernon Wilson, a rancher, when his automobile's headlights blinded the animal. Wilson was driving on a road beside the Arkansas River, 20 miles west of here. He narrowly avoided striking another deer.

Mayor T. Lee Wicher of Canon City also reported nearly hitting a deer.

Prosperity Claim for Dry Law.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Prohibition is held to be responsible for an unprecedented wave of prosperity in Manhattan by the World League Against Alcoholism, which has made public the results of a survey by Robert Everett Corradini, research secretary of the league. According to Corradini, 2263 saloons, 391 liquor stores and 180 liquor-selling drug stores that were in operation in 1916 have now given way to 2338 new stores that are selling necessities.

Question: Why is it no one ever questions your good judgment when you buy a Buick?

Answer: Because no one hears anything discreditable to this famous motor car. On the contrary everyone hears many good things. The favorable experience of Buick owners through many years has brought to Buick universal recognition as one of the few best American motor cars.

CHAPTER VIII.

So they went northward still past lake and river, and going through the mountains and villages that had names in the Irish language, if you knew the Irish language, that would bring a warm picture to your eye and heart: as Strada, a lake between whitewashed, barley-thatched houses, and cherry woods on each side of it, and green meadows lush with grass, and the name of that in English is the Cuckoo's Street. In summer in that village, from every art and part the cuckoos call one to another, so that one might think there was nothing but flutes and oboes in the cherry woods. And they went through Park na Mha Derg, which means the Plain of Red Flowers, such a great wide carpet of poppies spread over that dunes, and the folk of the village are a drowsy peaceful people. And they passed Kool's Meala Free, which is Five Miles of Heather, and there is a silken wind blowing over that townland, blowing the honeyed scent of the purple heather to the homestead people over all the world. That townland is a favorite place of the fairies, so if you have business with the little people of the hills you can always find them at Five Miles of Heather, when they rather for the piping and the stone-throwing contests and other athletic events in August under the full moon. And they passed the townland of Krana Arigid, Silver Trees, where the brooms keep the leaves of birch and hazel in a shimmer, so that in the moonlight you would have good reason for thinking you had come to Tir na n' Og. And the clusters of hazel-nuts in Krana Arigid are the largest and richest in all the Irish nation, brown clusters in small green fronds.

And they stopped at the village of Dheran-Dhoun, which means the End of the World, for there begins the Mountains of Connemara, and there is nothing but the high purple peaks between this village and the Atlantic Sea, and the name was put on this village before Columbus discovered the Americas, so that in olden times it was a good name, and I have heard it argued that it is a good name still. They stopped at Bartholomew Joyce's drinking-house, where there is good trade. And in the sanded public room Raftery with his cloak about his face listened to the news of the day. A Longford pig-buyer, a stocky man with a great horseshoe mustache, and a long whip in his left hand and a pot of porter in his right, was telling how Dean Swift had come back to Dublin from England last month in great anger, and why:

"...so my bold man walks straight into Buckingham Palace, and pushes every one aside until he comes to where Queen Anne is sitting, all by herself.

"Och, dean, my jewel," she says, "and how are you?"

"Less of the how-are-you, ma'am," says the dean, "and more about this: have you ever a bishop's apron and gaiters that would fit me, and if you haven't, why haven't you?"

"I have better than that, dean, my darling, dean, my darling," says Queen Anne. "How," says she, "would you like to marry me?"

"I wouldn't like it at all," says the dean.

"And why not?" says the queen says she.

"For three reasons, ma'am," says he. "The first is: St. Paul says, 'those who marry do well, but those who don't do better.'"

"And did I think I'd live to see the day," says Queen Anne, "when a six-foot Irishman would bother about what a cantankerous old lad like that would say? And didn't he also say," she asked him, "for she's the grand Bible-reading old girl, 'that it is better to marry than burn?' Ah, dean, she told him, 'your second reason will have to be better.'"

"My second is this," he said: "If so be I went back to Dublin, and married to the queen of England, I'd hate to tell you what they'd do to me, but you can get a hint from this, that my head would be kicking around the liberties of Dublin, and some one in very worthy man. But when does your millennium come?"

"It comes now, brother," the preacher said no attention to his request. "There will be no more wars, and for all there will be gold and silver, shekels of gold and shekels of silver. For is it not written that the wolf also shall dwell with the lamb, and the weaned child shall put his hand on the cockatrice in his den? Is it not in Holy Script, brother?"

"I will not dispute what is written with you, for there are many foolish things written, including some by myself. But how does this come about, my man?"

"As all things come about, brother, by the grace of God and the labor of virtuous men. There has been formed in London, brother, a company of godly and cunning merchants called the South Sea Company, whose aim is to develop the trade of the South Seas. There is wealth past dreaming there, brother, golden sands and hills of diamonds, which the ignorant heathen will part with for a handful of glass beads or some tin gewgaw. Oh, our day has arrived, brother, as arrived the day of Spain, when the Americas were given her to plunder, and the day of Tyre and Sidon, whose merchants were princes whose traffickers were the honorable of the earth. We are neither a heathen nor a popish nation, brother. Prosperity will abide with our godly breed. Alas, my man," he whispered, "the shares of the South Sea Company have risen two hundred per centum, and they are to be bought in this most ignorant province of Connaght."

"From the Welshman of Clargalway, perhaps," sneered Raftery.

"No, no," the preacher said, "for his iniquities and abominations Master Dwydd Evans has been blinded with ignorance. The stars of heaven and the constellations thereof shall not give him their light. He sniffeth disaster from afar, and saith ha-ha! No, brother, they are to be had from me, from me alone."

Hilaria's little feet came over the sanded floor. She laid her hand on Raftery's shoulder.

"All is ready in our room, Raftery," she said. "Do you wish to take the dust of travel off?"

But the preacher was upon his feet.

"I have seen this woman before," he shrilled. "I have seen her on the flying canal-boat. She is the Spanish hussy who brought Master Dwydd Evans to the mire. O brother, brother."

"You are mistaken, worthy man," said Raftery gently. "You have never before insulted this lady by looking at her with your pig's eyes."

"O brother, brother, beware of false witness and lying, and especially beware of this woman, for her feet go down to death, her steps take hold in hell!"

"Religious sir," said Raftery, "you are a most damned liar."

"Who are you to speak to me in this way?" the preaching man shouted.

"I am Patrick Raftery," and Raftery turned his face full on the room—"the chief poet of the Irish people; and this is my wife, Hilaria."

There was a hush and quick chatter in the room, but the clergyman was beside himself with anger.

"You are a rogue," he shouted,

DON BYRNE

Belfast would be poking the fire with my shin-bone, and my entrails would be fertilizing the county of Cork."

"Och, dean," she said, "my loving man, what need for you to go back to Dublin when you can stay here in Buckingham Palace and sit at your ease in the parlor, with a quart of whisky at your elbow and write your Sullivan's Travels. And the Life Guards there to keep out them as do be annoying the poets: publishers, and policemen, and people with bills. And the queen of England making tea for you with her royal hands. What's your third reason, dean dear?" she asked, "for them two's no good."

"My third reason is, that I'm married already. Ah," he said, "I thought that'd hold you."

"For the queen lets a screech out of her you could hear a mile away, and falls into the megrims, and her women come running to her with violet-water and orange-water and lavender-water and plain water in a bucket, for the queen was a teetotaler. But all she does is screech: 'Put the dirty devil out!'"

"Ma'am," says the dean, "poor ma' honse, which is Irish for: the back of my hand to ye. And back to Dublin he comes, leaping with anger."

"But I never heard tell," said Bartholomew Joyce, "that the dean was married."

"May I never destroy another pint of porter," said the Longford pig-buyer, "if I'm telling a lie. For he's married to a girl in the County Kildare, and when he's with her he hates her and can't bear the sight of her, and when he's away from her he sits up all night writing her letters saying how much he loves her, letters as long as a road without a public house. And the pig-buyer inserted skillfully the horseshoe mustache into the foaming pot of porter. . . .

But from another man Raftery received more authentic information on the times. He was a squat, fat, bald-faced man, with a neck wrinkled like a turtle's, a droning conventicle voice, black suit, and black slouch hat. He had come into Connaght to preach the approaching coming of Christ and the millennium. The wicked, he announced, would be swept with the besom of destruction.

"And they are wicked, brother," he told Raftery. "I came on the flying canal-boat from Dublin to the town of Athlone, and such drinking on board, such consumption of brandy and wine, such lascivious dancing, as the tarantella, that lewdness of Italy. Oh, fie, fie, brother! And the merchants of repute such as Master Dwydd Evans with his painted Spanish countenance. Oh, shameless brother! The show of their countenance doth witness against them," he chanted, "and they declare their sin as Sodom; they hide it not. A popish woman and a harlot, brother!"

"I would much rather you did not call me brother," said Raftery quietly, "though you may be a very worthy man. But when does your millennium come?"

"It comes now, brother," the preacher said no attention to his request. "There will be no more wars, and for all there will be gold and silver, shekels of gold and shekels of silver. FUNNY how some men are so much nicer after they have been toasted before the fire of love, isn't it? Just a nice, slow, steady-burning fire that warms them without scorching. For the scorching flames sear and burn and shrivel all that comes near them, and Love is no exception.

So, remember, my dears, just keep the fire of love at an even temperature. True, the blazing, leaping flames are far more beautiful and wonderful to watch, but did you ever notice how quickly such a fire dies out?

And you don't want that to happen! So when your particular fire of love is kindled, watch it carefully. Keep it at the low, steady flame that burns so long and so steadily, and toasts all those who come in contact with it in a nice, comfortable way. And after they're toasted, don't forget the butter—of flattery! Just a little, teeny bit! Enough to flavor properly, never too much.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home"

By WANDA BARTON

Putting Personality and Comfort in the Guest Room.

GUEST rooms as a rule are the least comfortable in the house.

They are rooms that lack personality and the humanizing touch that makes them homey. It is not necessary that this should be so, for it is so easy to make them livable and at a small outlay. The owner should occupy the room herself for a night or two and her eyes would be opened as to just what the room lacks.

A comfortable bed is one of the most important points to consider and a supply of suitable bedding, not forgetting the extra blanket or woolen throw. An empty closet well supplied with hangers, and a lightweight kimono that may be signed on while the guest is unpacking. A trunk rack is very convenient to lay the suitcase on while unpacking.

On the dresser a pincushion, bottle of salts, hair receiver and smaller pin trays should be included among the fittings. There should also be a small sewing kit with ordinary emergency conveniences in it. Tacked on the back of the door, hotel fashion, a card should give information about meal hours, location of bathrooms, etc. In the desk put time tables as well as paper, envelopes and just a few stamps. Sissors, string, tags and other little things that might be wanted. On the table by the night light a few magazines and a new book or two will be found welcome additions.

Neutral walls make a good background for painted furniture. Painted floors or a covering of attractive linoleum, or matting, are easily cleaned. The painted surface and the linoleum wipe up fresh and clean and the matting is easily swept. It may be kept fresh and bright by wiping up with cloths wrung out of salted water occasionally.

The choice of inexpensive rugs is a wide one. There are the machine-woven rugs, the hand-woven, the various rag rugs, the hooked rugs, and the plaited and sewed rugs; perhaps the latter are the more attractive on account of their oval or oblong shapes.

Very attractive glass curtains, spreads and bureau scarfs to match may be made of the heavy Tuscan net embroidered with worsted. These matching sets really decide the color scheme of the room and are usually made at home. Morning-glory pattern is a favorite and is especially attractive for the glass curtain, as the vines climb up from the sill irregularly and the blossoms among the leaves are colorful and attractive. The work on the spreads is concentrated toward the centers generally.

For summer use the tinted parchment lamp shades are very popular for bedrooms, for they do not get dusty like the silk ones. If they do, they can be wiped off with a soft cloth without injury. Glazed chintz shades are also popular and easy to keep clean. The chintz patterns are easily selected in color combinations that will go with any room.

A few well selected pictures give a human touch to the room also, but they should be chosen with great care. The frames should be in harmony with the woodwork and not those that make striking contrasts, or that give a heavy wintry look to the room. Cheery subjects with delicate colors are likely to please the ordinary taste.

If a man is to live in the room for a time, be sure that there are ash trays and other little things that make men comfortable and happy. A long glass set into the door of the closet will be an addition appreciated by guests. A good-sized scrap basket should not be forgotten.

The water bottle and glass, or pitcher, the night light and cracker jar on the night table by the bed, should not be forgotten.

A few fresh flowers add a welcome that makes the guest feel at home at once. It is these little human touches that make the room homey and attractive—the things we like to remember when the visit is over and we have gone our way. If the guest room has an open fireplace, where a fire is laid, all ready for the match, then indeed the guest will feel at home. Even in the summer time there are rainy evenings when a blaze on the hearth will add comfort and good cheer to any room.

One hostess, who is known far and wide for her beautiful hospitality, has her guests, as well as her family, awakened every morning by good music.

Peter Calls on Little Mrs. Chipmunk

They always find the Great World glad,
Whose thoughts are good and never bad.

— Striped Chipmunk.

"Good morning, Mrs. Chipmunk," cried Peter.

comes. People with family cares have little time to think about the weather. Peter pricked up his long ears. "Have you family cares, Mrs. Chipmunk?" he inquired in a tone of surprise. "Of course," replied Mrs. Chipmunk. "Who is there without family cares at this season of the year, excepting yourself?" Peter laughed. "I haven't seen any of those family cares," said he. Mrs. Chipmunk's bright eyes twinkled. "Haven't you?" said she innocently. "No," replied Peter. "Where do you keep them?" "Where they will not bother people," replied Mrs. Chipmunk.

"You see, I believe that one should keep one's cares to one's self." "An excellent plan, Mrs. Chipmunk, an excellent plan," said Peter. "These family cares you speak of are, I trust, not too worrisome." "No," replied Mrs. Chipmunk. "They are not too worrisome, but they are worrisome enough." "How many of them are there?" asked Peter. "Five," replied Mrs. Chipmunk. "And that is plenty at one time." "I should like to see them," ventured Peter very politely. "I should be happy to have you," replied Mrs. Chipmunk. "Come home with me and I will show them to you." "Is it far?" asked Peter, who really was burning up with curiosity to know where that home was, for he had looked for it many times, but couldn't find it. "Not very far," replied Mrs. Chipmunk. "Just follow me and I'll show you the way." "You don't think Striped Chipmunk would mind, do you?" inquired Peter. Little Mrs. Chipmunk shook her head. "He won't mind," said she, "because he won't know anything about it. He is seldom at home anyway. You see while those family cares are his, he has nothing to do with them." "I know," said Peter. "Of course you do," retorted Mrs. Chipmunk tartly. "Now follow me and I'll show you the way."

Where Prayers Are Said by Revolving Cylinders

the extreme southwest of the Province of Saskatchewan is a lovely mountain stronghold called Mull. Shut off from the world by its elaborate and civil customs in almost of the fact that an entire world exists. Mull comprises 22,000 people and an area of 1,000 square miles. The King of Mull is a man of 70 years of age, and he holds the position of ruler of the land. The combination of white walls and stone window chip and break, when used in a most attractive manner. On the south side of the king's palace a strange sight greets the eyes of the visitor. Let into the wall is a long row of cylindrical wheels made of yak-hide. Inside of them, tightly wound up, are miles and miles of paper on which are printed the daily prayers. Devotees, passing by, turn each of the cylinders as they reach it and in this way say millions of prayers in a very short time. There is one gigantic wheel housed in a building of its own. It is beautifully decorated and rotates on a pivot. This, too, is full of prayers and the devout show their zeal by the strength they exhibit in turning the massive, heavy wheel. SUNSHINE CHERRIES. One pound cherries, one pound sugar, one cup water. Boil the sugar and water until it spins a thread. Add the cherries and bring the mixture to a boil. Set aside until cold. With a perforated spoon lift cherries from the syrup into shallow granite pans or platters. Boil the syrup for five minutes and pour it over the cherries. Allow the cherries to dry until they can be turned onto a clean cheesecloth spread over a screen. Drain until no longer sticky. Store in glass jars. These are excellent as a confection.

Here Is a Home Exercise to Give Symmetry to Your Arms

By LUCREZIA BORI, The Famous Spanish Prima Donna

It is a pleasure to one interested in beauty to see the strong, muscular arms of the girls who are growing up about us. There are some people who are chronically looking for trouble, who condemn the present-day fashion of dress and action. But I must say that more good seems to come out of it than bad. For instance the girl who wears straight simple clothes and who does not lace her figure in, is bound to have a chance for more bodily activity than the girl of other ages. Her comfortable shoes allow her to walk with a free, graceful stride. She is not hampered by her clothes, and she likes outdoor life and outdoor activities. The very fact that so many girls and women of today go out into the world to earn their living brings about more sensible and simple dressing. Clothes must be attractive, but they must also be easy to wear. Also, the woman who is active and who wants to look her best is ever careful of her figure. This brings me to the subject of arms, for today I want to give my readers a good, simple exercise for developing the arms. The abbreviated sleeves in day frocks, and the entire lack of sleeves in frocks for evening, makes the beauty of the arms more important than ever. Also, the coming of warm weather will bring about a renewed interest in shorter sleeves, and I know all women who want these revelations to be a credit to them, and to boost their sum total of beauty rather than detract from it. Now, the arm which is soft and flabby can never be the arm of beauty. If your arm does not possess the smooth, firm gracefulness that you would wish, you can improve it by exercise. If your arm is flabby and soft, exercise will make it more firm, and the toning and strengthening of the tissue will make it more slender. The arm exercise is this: Stand two or three feet away from the wall, your arms straight out in front of you and supporting the weight of your body against the wall. New bend your elbows, allowing your body to slant forward until your chest touches the wall. Now push yourself away from the wall until your arms are straight again. Return to second position. Keep this up until you become tired. This exercise will develop the triceps and muscles of the back of your arm. In doing this, excess tissue will be done away with, and your arms will be made more firm and more slender. Keep the exercise up regularly, day after day, doing it at least twice a day until you are tired. You must have regularity in your exercising if you are to get the best results.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

Wells of Song. THROUGH ages pride and power, fame and gold have charmed the thoughtless throng, and yet the common things of living hold deep-springing wells of song. A beauty lingers over simple things that pomp and pageant miss, a wonder lies upon the bluebird's wings and in the mother's kiss. And merry notes of eager, ardent joy, supreme and undefined, can linger only quite without alloy in laughter of a child. There is scant splendor at the poor man's heart and meager is his fare, yet many a soaring song of matchless worth has first been uttered there. Though stirring symphonies on epic themes shall ring through ages long, they do not touch men's hearts or wake men's dreams like these sweet wells of song.

ODD FACTS

Herrings are so abundant off the coast of Schleswig, Germany, that they fail to find purchasers at one farthing a pound. Achill Island, off the West Coast of Ireland, has a population of over 7000. The total produce of the land and livestock owned by these people only affords food for two months in every year. Leaf insects, which thrive on the guava tree, mimic the leaves so closely that they even change color as the season advances—from brilliant red to green, and then to golden brown. More than 30,000 ex-service men have been established on the land in Canada. One of the largest collections of skulls in the world is to be found at the Royal College of Surgeons' Museum. There are 4600 specimens, some dating from the year 9 B. C.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Matting can be freshened by wiping it with a cloth wrung out of water to which ammonia has been added. To keep suet fresh, chop roughly and sprinkle with granulated sugar. Jugs in which milk is kept should be scoured with salt at least once a week. Gigarette ashes make an excellent polish for silver.

FAMOUS WOMEN

EMILIA BRAMBATI. EMILIA BRAMBATI or Bergamo was the wife of Ezechiele Solza, distinguished for her poetic talent and for her eloquence. She became the leader for the life of her brother, condemned to death by the Tribunal of Venice, and drew tears from the eyes of all the bystanders. Some of her poems still remain.

FRENCH NURSERY ICE CREAM.

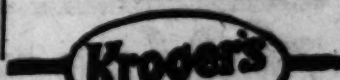

Take one quart of heavy sweet cream and add to it a cupful of sugar and a dessertspoonful of vanilla flavoring. Pour into the freezer and freeze in the usual way. If used on a special occasion, any of the hot fudge sauces may be added, though the cream is rich in itself.

NOW THE STORY IS TOLD

HOUSEWIVES marvel at the smooth, "newy" feel that table and bed linens have when they come home from the Excelsior-Leader. Our great, ultra-modern flat-work ironers do the work. Each ironer consists of a series of revolving, softly padded rolls which gently press sheets, tablecloths, napkins and handkerchiefs against a smooth, steam heated ironing surface. They are so delicately adjusted that a piece of wet tissue paper can be drawn through the rolls intact.

Linens passing through these rolls are given that dainty, snowy sheen which every woman prizes. In our Hand-Ironing Department, expert hands give the final touches to the finished service. Many different forms of irons are used to bring out every detail of each garment. In our Collar Department, special ironing equipment enables us to turn out collars in the exact form originally designed by the manufacturers.

FORMAL NOTE

CALLES' STATEMENT
CAUSES SURPRISE

American Ambassador Has Made Representations to Mexico and Thought Statement Necessary.

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-22 Wyatt Building,
WASHINGTON, June 18.—
While obviously surprised that President Calles of Mexico has chosen to view an "insult" to the statement issued last week by Secretary of State Kellogg warning Mexico that she must live up to her international obligations, Administration officials have declined to comment in any way upon the Mexican executive's rejoinder.

It was indicated yesterday that the statement of the Secretary of State will be followed up by a formal diplomatic note, pointing out the matters to which the United States Government takes exception.

Meanwhile there will be no public debate between Washington and Mexico City.

Had President Calles issued his reply in the form of an official note our Government would have been compelled to take immediate notice of it. Since it is in the form of a statement to the press and public,
President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg may ignore it entirely if they see fit to do so.

Secretary Kellogg had not seen the Calles reply until he arrived at his office yesterday following a week-end trip on the presidential yacht Mayflower. It was indicated clearly that the Coolidge administration is much more interested in what President Calles may do in the way of seeing that Mexico's obligations to foreigners are fulfilled than in what he has to say by way of reply to a statement calling the situation to the attention of the public in other countries.

Advisability of Policy Questioned.
Government officials are by no means a unit concerning the wisdom of the course pursued by Secretary Kellogg following conferences with Ambassador Sheffield, some of which were participated in by President Coolidge and Senator Burah, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Some disposition was shown to question the advisability of coming out with such a pointed public statement.

Those holding this view feel that President Calles could not have done less than show vigorous resistance, since failure on his part to do so might lend comfort to disaffected elements in Mexico and assist in bringing on another revolution.

Apparently administration spokesmen take the position that the Kellogg statement said all that was necessary in the way of a public declaration and nothing to be gained by carrying on the discussion through the press. They do not feel that the wording of the Kellogg statement justified the interpretation placed upon it by President Calles.

It was indicated that President Calles is mistaken if he seriously believes the application of the agrarian laws cannot be the subject of complaint because they were issued by Mexico in her sovereign capacity. Already they have been the subject of many formal complaints through the American embassy in Mexico City.

To Enumerate Specific Complaints.
The forthcoming note will contain specific complaints against the application of these laws and the failure of Mexico to compensate American citizens for expropriated property.

Mexican Consul-General Says Payment of Debt Will Be Renewed.
By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 18.—Arthur
M. Bliss, Mexican Consul-General in this city and half-brother of President Calles, said yesterday that the Mexican Government intended to renew payment on its external debt next year, after the establishment of a central bank of issue on Jan. 1.

The Mexican debt, which was funded according to an agreement with American bankers in June, 1925, went into default at the time
Gen. Huerta rebelled against Obregon last year.
